HL Walkout 'Illegal'

1,000 Now Idle In Ware Strike Of 35 Kilnhands

A work stoppage by 35 to 40 kilnhands at the Homer Laughlin China Co. at Newell has been termed illegal by the IBOP and a company spokesman said this morning that pratically the entire plant has been shut down with some 1,000 now idle.

The kilnhands walked off the job shortly before noon Wednesday for the second time in two days. The dispute reportedly is over working conditions and centers around Plant 7. Although there are no pickets, virtually all the remaining employes were thrown out of work, according to the company.

A UNION representative met with the men yesterday and advised them that the grievance procedure set up in the contract must be followed in settling the dispute. As soon he left, the men walked out again.

The stoppage was termed illegal in a telegram sent to the kilnmen by Charles F. Jordan, secretary - treasurer of the IBOP. It reads as follows:

"The kilnmen's work stoppage at the Homer Laughlin China Co.'s Plant 7 is an illegal work stoppage, as this has not come into the proper procedure of a grievance case through the master committee.

"All kilnmen are instructed to return to work immediately before any further process can be made of this case.

"AS SOON AS kilnmen are back to work, arrangements will be made by the top brass committee regarding this situation."

The company said it will not meet with the men until they return to work.

J. M. Wells, chairman of the Board of Directors, said in a statement that "continuation of this illegal strike can only mean a loss of earnings to the strikers and all other company employes, since the Brotherhood officers agree with the company's position that they will under no circumstances consider the kilnmen's complaint until they are back at work."

Wells said all the plants are down with the exception of the decorating and finishing departments. They apparently will continue working as long as there is ware, he said.

2 Tracts Optioned

Board To Reveal High School Site

A site for a new high school will be announced Saturday or Monday, just hours before school district residents go to the polls Tuesday to vote on a $3,380,000 bond issue for a new high school and three elementary buildings, the Board of Education agreed Wednesday night after taking options on the Hilbert property on Maine Blvd. and the Bosco property off Anderson Blvd.

If a price has been agreed upon, it also will be announced, board members said.

THE SUGGESTION that the definite site be named was made by John R. Woomer, who said, "All of us are pretty sure."

Supt. Paul H. Blair then announced the definite site will be named Saturday or Monday.

In adopting the resolutions, the board authorized Harry D. McConville, president, and Miss Kathryn C. Liebschner, clerk - treasurer, to sign the options.

The superintendent said some points of clarification are required on the exact amount of property needed before the option on the Bosco tract owned by Sullivan and Charles Bosco is signed.

In discussing the property off Maine Blvd. near Trinity United Presbyterian Church, Blair said he has conferred with both Standley T. Hilbert, owner of the tract, and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, the board's legal advisor, and has turned over a copy of the deed to the 33-acre tract to the solicitor for review.

THE BOARD announced several weeks ago that it was considering both tracts for a new high school plant.

No locations for the three elementary buildings have been pinpointed other than they will be located in the East End, North Side and Pleasant-Heights - LaCroft - Glenmoor areas.

McConville recommended to board members they launch their own intensive campaign for passage of the bond issue.

"It's up to us to do the rest," the board president said, adding, "I'm afraid we'll fumble the ball unless we follow up on what has been accomplished so far."

HE SUGGESTED a check be made to make sure teachers and other school employes are registered to vote, the possibility of principals enlisting he cooperation of PTA members for a last - minute telephone campaign in the area of the respective schools, and car pools to take voters to the polls.

Samuel W. Brown suggested the high school band be used Tuesday to create interest and remind voters to go to the polls.

Blair said some 5,700 letters will be sent to homes throughout the school district Friday and teachers, students and school employes will be given tags declaring "Give Us Better Schools" to wear in the final days before the vote.

County Men Jailed In Holdup Of Ellwood City Area Bank

Waterford And Rogers Pair Jailed

$4,688 Found With Robert McMillan, Robert Melczak

Two Columbiana County men, Robert Melczak, 27, of New Waterford R. D. 1, and Robert McMillan, 36, of Rogers R. D. 1, are being held in the Beaver County Jail today, following the armed robbery of the Union National Bank in Koppel, near Ellwood City, Wednesday, shortly after noon. They were captured quickly with the $4,688 cash loot.

Police said McMillan entered the bank, wearing a black hood over his head and carrying a sawedoff shot gun, and demanded the money from the teller, Robert Stacey.

McMillan was in the bank only a short time, and returned to the car parked outside, in which Melczak was waiting, to make their get away, police said.

Stacey notified Ellwood City police as the pair raced off down Lawrence Ave., toward Ellwood City. They were spotted in about 10 minutes by Ellwood City patrolmen Frank Mussung and Lt. Tom Magnificio, while on 13th St. in Ellwood City.

The patrolmen turned on their siren, and forced the 1956 Cadillac sedan to the curb.

When the car door was pulled open, the officers saw a $20 bill on the floor, and McMillan, who was riding in the back seat, explained it had fallen from his pocket. They offered no resistance, as the officers had drawn their guns.

A search turned up the bank money in a bucket under the back seat of the car.

The suspects were returned to Ellwood City Jail without a struggle. They later directed the officers to the east end of the Koppel-Ellwood City Bridge, and showed them where they had thrown the gun and mask. The spot is only a few blocks from the bank.

The pair was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ross Keefer Jr. of Darlington Township on charges of armed rob-

AFTER PAIR'S CAPTURE. Robert Melczak, alleged driver of the getaway car used by two Columbiana County suspects in the holdup of an Ellwood City district bank, is shown wearing the hood that his asserted accomplice, Robert McMillan, at right, had donned before the stickup of the bank's teller in which $4,688 was taken—briefly. Lt. Kenneth Brown of the Ellwood City police stands at the left of Melczak, whose "accommodating" pose with the mask was taken at the scene where the pair disposed of the mask and the sawedoff shotgun used in the robbery. McMillan is shown under interrogation at the Ellwood City police station. The Union National Bank at Koppel was hit shortly after noon Wednesday. They were captured in about 10 minutes with the cash.

St. Augustine, Jacksonville Lashed

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Dora smashed at St. Augustine and Jacksonville today, devastating a vast area with a 10-foot tide and 100-mile-plus winds.

The massive storm, tormenting 100,000 square miles of land and sea, sent gales whistling all the way to South Carolina and battered Brunswick, Ga., with 65-mile gusts.

Unofficial estimates put damage so far in the tens of millions.

Water flowed hip deep in the ancient Slave Market Square in the heart of this picturesque city of 15,000, the nation's oldest.

Giant old oaks that have weathered tempests through the centuries were uprooted. Most streets were inundated. Power was out.

In Jacksonville — a city of 250,000 with a modern, gleaming skyline — homes were unroofed, streets flooded, power lines, poles and trees tossed to the ground in a tangle.

Where tides did not reach to damage buildings, torrential rains lashed by the shrieking, moaning winds did. Hundreds of homes had wind-driven rain on their floors.

Shortly after daybreak, Dora was centered about 30 miles southwest of downtown Jacksonville, moving erratically toward the west of west-northwest at seven miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau advised that more battering was to come.

Rains of 10 to 15 inches were predicted for the rest of northern Florida and southeastern Georgia, producing flooding in rivers and streams, some severe.

Hurricane warnings flew as far as Charleston, S.C., with gale warnings up to Myrtle Beach, S.C., and along the Gulf coast of Florida from Sarasota to Apalachicola.

"We think the storm will go up through the center of Georgia," said a forecaster at the National Hurricane Center in Miami. "That would take some of the steam out of it."

When Dora's calm eye finally pressed ashore, St. Augustine and Jacksonville Beach already had been hammered by hurricane-force winds, slashing rain and huge waves for more than 12 hours.

This morning, the hurricane's tide pushed the waters of the St. Johns River over its banks into a residential area in the middle of Jacksonville.

National Guard trucks were dispatched to the area to remove residents.

St. Augustine's water supply was low, causing a critical problem at shelters housing evacuees. The storm shut down pumps used by the water utility.

"My big problem is deciding whether to let these people out of shelters," said Civil Defense Director Fred Willis. "I've got no water pressure in the shelters. We can't flush the toilets."

An estimated 50,000 persons fled the northeast Florida coastline as Dora approached Wednesday. Other thousands left their homes for higher ground in Georgia and South Carolina.

Dora was a nightmare at Jacksonville Beach, 35 miles to the north. Pounded by hurricane force winds and crashing waves, the seawall began to crumble.

Floodwaters swirled three or four blocks from the beach and ran in some streets like small rivers. Live wires hissed like snakes.

The top of a 47-year-old hotel was destroyed. The roof was ripped from a motel. The living room of a home was swept away. Flood waters sucked at the foundations of other buildings.

Twelve hundred refugees from the storm tried to sleep on the floor of a high school gym as rain swept in through broken windows.

Store windows were smashed at mainland Jacksonville, 18 miles from the beach. Police reported some looting. At least three men were arrested.

Power was out to 92 per cent of the city. Trees were bowled over and minor debris littered the streets.

Most of the power was also knocked out at the vacation city of Brunswick, about 100 miles north of St. Augustine. The roof

Johnson Due For Address At Harrisburg

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson makes the first avowedly political trip of his campaign tonight, flying to Pennsylvania for a one-night stand.

The President, who will leave the White House by helicopter at sundown, will fly direct to Harrisburg, the Pennsylvania capital, to address Democrats at a $100-a-plate dinner.

Then, after a few good night handshakes, he will return to Washington.

Party leaders in Harrisburg predicted 6,000 diners would attend the event in the Farm Show Arena building. Tickets have been on sale for days but the White House did not acknowledge until Wednesday that the President would attend.

Johnson made his first trip of the campaign Monday, addressing the annual AFL-CIO Labor Day rally in Detroit.

Although this affair had been, for 16 years, the traditional launching pad for Democratic campaigns, Johnson declined to regard it as the kickoff for his vote drive.

To See If New Laws Needed

FBI Directed By Johnson To Compile Data On Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has directed the FBI to compile hundreds of reports on recent street violence so he can see if any common pattern exists and decide whether any new laws are needed.

The President told an impromptu news conference in his office Wednesday that he has already informed mayors and governors where such rioting has occurred that the federal government will "make available the full information we may have" and offer any extra help under present laws.

Johnson said such offers have been made to officials in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Mississippi and Georgia.

In his announcement, the President said the FBI is gathering reports on "riots and disturbances of the peace" at the rate of "about 40 a night." He said the reports might reveal "some particular pattern that will need to be pointed up, and that will lead us to make further recommendations," including proposals for new federal laws.

He said he referred "specifically (but) not exclusively," to riots such as those in Philadelphia and New York's Harlem.

Johnson used the news conference to reel off another long list of the latest economic statistics to bolster his belief that "confidence in economic prosperity is growing."

He said consumer spending increased by a record $15 billion in the first half of 1964, while financial savings of individuals reached a record level of $7.7 billion in the April-June quarter.

Showers Due Friday In Heat Wave Break

Temperatures are likely to soar in to the 90's again today but the Ohio weatherman has promised a possible break in the heat wave Friday, predicting thundershowers then turning cooler.

And relief can't come too soon, as the Tri - State District sweltered Wednesday when the mercury rose to 94 in the downtown — and higher on unofficial thermometers — with the possibility that figure may be reached again today in waning summer's torrid turn.

One consolation was that the night was relatively mild. The downtown had 62 at 6 a. m. and tonight's low range will be slightly warmer with 64 to 70 forecast. Most of Northern Ohio may get 90 or more today.

Driver Cited With Earlier Case Waited

Awaiting a hearing today in Municipal Court on one traffic charge, an East End motorist was cited by police Wednesday afternoon on another offense resulting from a mishap on Broadway near E. 5th St.

Hearings for Jakey Ice, 40, of 864 State St. were under way this morning before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on charges of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated and improper backing.

The physical control charge had been filed by police Aug. 30 but a continuance had been granted until today at the request of Ice's counsel, Atty. William S. Foulks.

Police filed the improper backing charge after a mishap involving Ice and a halted car operated by Carol L. Skeens, 21, of 2035 Clark Ave., Wellsville.

The woman told police she had halted for the traffic signal and Ice backed his car into her. Ice told officers he did not see the car when he started to back.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and Atty. Foulks agreed to open the hearings on the physical control charge.

Patrolman S. E. Hayes testified he first observed Ice talk-

General Motors Will Follow

Auto Union Eyes Ford Next In Contract Drive

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, with a Chrysler agreement which he estimated to be worth 54 cents an hour over the next three years, will begin a drive at Ford Motor Co. Friday for the equivalent or better.

From Ford, Reuther said he would proceed to General Motors Corp.

The union is expected to demand the same pattern — including a possible pension in 1965 of up to $400 a month at age 60 — from American Motors Corp., scores of supplier plants and the agricultural implement industry.

The Big Three of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler employ more than a half million UAW-represented workers. Their contracts often set national patterns.

Most significant gains at Chrysler were in areas of earlier retirement, where workers would get a bonus for quitting at 60 instead of 65, and in higher pensions generally.

The union, however, managed to hold on to annual wage boosters and a cost-of-living escalator and to gain company payment of full hospital-medical insurance premiums for retirees, as well as workers.

The new Chrysler contract, yet to be signed but agreed upon in principle, was described by Reuther as "the most historic agreement in the American labor movement."

It is one destined to "raise tremendously" the government's Social Security benefits scale, Reuther said, "as the Ford pension agreement (first in the industry) unlocked them in 1949."

19 More Income Tax Cases Filed In Court

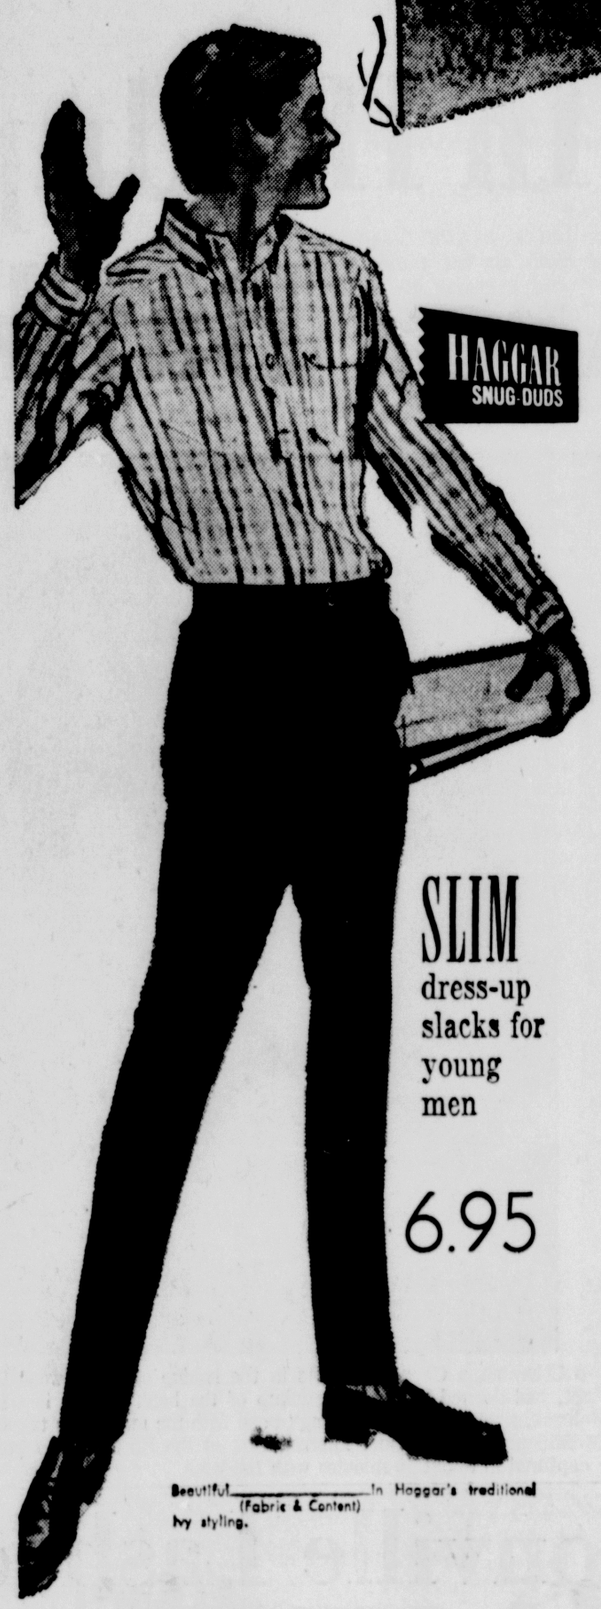

Nineteen more charges against city residents accused of violating the income tax ordinance were filed today in Municipal Court by D. G. Wilkinson, tax commissioner.

Twelve persons are accused on two counts alleging they failed to file a final return on 1963 income and an estimate of 1964 earnings. The other seven are charged with not filing an estimate of this year's income.

After Judge Samuel M. Chertoff fixes a date for the hearings, summonses will be served on the defendants by Bailiff Wilbert Taylor. The court makes it a practice not to release the names of the defendants until the summonses have been served.

Muster All-Star Reinforcements

Goldwater-Johnson Fight Looms On Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater, seeming to hit on the same idea at the same time, have mustered some all-star reinforcements for the campaign battles ahead over foreign policy.

The President announced at his news conference Wednesday "the formation of a panel of distinguished citizens who will consult with the president during the coming months on major international problems facing the United States."

Goldwater, his Republican foe, was also turning out a speech in Seattle naming a seven-man team headed by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon to confer with free world leaders in "a serious and historically significant attempt to regroup freedom's badly scattered forces while there is still time."

"We do not intend to rubber-stamp four years of mistake, retreat and weakness in world affairs," Goldwater declared.

On his part, Johnson made no reference to politics or the campaign and included both Democrats and Republicans on his panel — many of whom have had powerful roles in shaping American policy since World War II.

Johnson said the consultants would include former Secretary of State Dean Acheson; Arthur Dean, former disarmament negotiator; John Cowles, president of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune; attorney Morris Leibman; Gen. Omar Bradley; James Wadsworth, a former disarmament negotiator; Arthur Larson, former chief of the U.S. Information Agency; James Perkins, president of Cornell University; Robert Lovett, former defense secretary; George Kistiakowsky, former White House science adviser;

Roswell Gilpatric, former deputy secretary of defense; Paul Hoffman, former foreign aid administrator; Eugene Black, former head of the World Bank; John McCloy, who has often negotiated for the United States with the Soviet Union; Allen Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and Teodoro Moscoso, former coordinator for the Alliance for Progress.

Goldwater, declaring the Johnson foreign policy adds up to "defeat, disaster, retreat, chaos, confusion," named these men in addition to Nixon to his task force:

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former commander of U.S. forces in Europe and the late President John F. Kennedy's troubleshooter during the Berlin crisis; Herbert Hoover Jr., former undersecretary of state; Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, ranking GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the 1964 GOP platform committee; Adolph W. Schmidt, financial and foundation executive, and Gerhart Niemeyer, Notre Dame political science professor.

Grand Jury's On Schedule

LISBON — The Columbiana County Grand Jury is "right on schedule," according to Prosecutor G. William Brokaw.

Friday's schedule will include seven cases involving 10 witnesses. Today, the panel was to hear 12 witnesses in 14 cases.

Brokaw said he does not expect the jury to report before Monday as he has scheduled a second degree traffic manslaughter case for trial Monday morning if the witnesses can appear.

Robrt E. Watson of Hanoverton, an auto mechanic, was appointed foreman of the panel for the September term of court when it was seated Wednesday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Also sworn in on the panel were:

Mary M. Thompson, Charlotte Wright and Martha Mitcheson, all of R. D. 2 and Phillip Garey of M.C. Route 22, East Liverpool; John Bergman, Evelyn Sprowl and Eve Farrington, Salem.

Thelma Llewellen, R. D. 2, Charles M. Rose and Paul C. Strabley, both of R. D. 1, Salineville; Zelda Peppel, Columbiana; Madalyn Wilhelm, New Waterford; Francis Cope and Florence Munyon, East Palestine.

Ohio PUC Waits Reports

Utility Firms Hold Key To Reduction In Rates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Whether the federal corporate tax cut will be reflected in your electric, water, natural gas or telephone bill depends on what the Public Utilities Commission learns from companies serving you, chairman Carl R. Johnson says.

He reiterated the commission's stand that it neither has the power nor the desire to order an across-the-board decrease in utility company rates because of the tax slash.

But, in declining to order a blanket rate reduction, the commission directed Aug. 4 that each utility company involved report on its situation and what it proposes to do with any saving.

Johnson said these narrative reports are starting to come in, and will be analyzed individually. If a rate reduction appears to be warranted, he says the commission will take "appropriate steps."

Most observers think few, if any, reductions will be ordered.

Some 77 telephone, 27 water, 25 natural gas and 13 electric companies are involved. If the rest of the reports aren't in by early October, it could be necessary to set a deadline, Johnson said.

The $35-million East Ohio Gas Co. case, with its thousands of pages of testimony, is coming up for decision. Johnson says this and other chores will keep the three-member commission from talking with officials of each of the companies.

Commission staff members will analyze the companies' proposals for use of tax savings, he said, and commissioners themselves will interview officials only where the circumstances are unusual.

It is possible also that follow-up reports, probably at six-month intervals, will be required to make sure the companies are carrying through their plans, the chairman said.

Board Allows 7 To Attend City Schools

Permission for seven area children — six from Beaver Local and one from Chester — to attend city schools was approved Wednesday night by the Board of Education — provided the parents pay the tuition.

The board also gave permission for three children to attend Beaver Local Schools with two paying tuition and the board taking care of the tuition for the other.

A fourth request for a child to start first grade at Beaver Local Schools was refused.

The board accepted the recommendations of Supt. Paul H. Blair, who also recommended that no change be made this year as requested by Beaver Local officials.

Blair said he received a request from Roy Cashdollar, executive head of the Beaver Local district, asking that the two boards agree not to permit the transfer of students between districts.

The superintendent said he recommended no change be made this year since the city board already has accepted several students from Beaver Local.

He said he doesn't feel it wise to pass legislation barring transfers as long as the parents are willing to pay the tuition fees.

Given permission to attend city schools were William V. Smith and Michael W. Smith, sons of Atty. Donald E. Smith; Rosemary Hays, daughter of Charles Hays; Christopher E. Morse, son of Edwin Morse; Steven Sinclair and Roberta Sinclair, children of Dr. Stephen Sinclair, and James W. Harper of Chester, whose parents are city teachers. All but the Sinclair children attended city schools last year.

The board authorized Lizbeth Mason, daughter of Mrs. Wilma Mason, a teacher at Calcutta School, and Gary Bonnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bonnell, to attend Beaver Local if their parents pay the tuition.

Blair told the board Bonnell, a senior, was enrolled in the industrial drafting program which was dropped this year because of inability to secure a qualified instructor.

Beaver Local has a similar program and Bonnell can complete the course this year, he said.

The board also agreed to pay the tuition fee for the daughter of Mrs. Stanley Skeens to attend Beaver Local schools.

The superintendent said the Skeens family lives in an area north of Neville School where the board also pays tuition charges for three other children.

"It is absolutely impossible for a bus to reach the area by way of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext.," the superintendent said, explaining the children board a Beaver Local bus on a road near Stagecoach Rd.

The board also accepted the recommendation of the superintendent that the request of Mrs. David K. Taylor for her son, Stephen Jeffrey Taylor, to enter first grade in Beaver Local be denied.

Young Taylor cannot enter first grade in city schools since he was born Nov. 2, 1958, and the entrance requirement provides that children enrolling in first grade be 6 on or before Sept. 15, Blair explained.

Bench Warrant Out For Mingo Motorist

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a bench warrant for a Mingo Junction man who failed to appear for a hearing on a speeding charge.

Donald Edwin Farmer had been released to appear after being cited at 12:45 a. m. Tuesday for driving 46 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St.

Earl V. Davis of Youngstown, cited Sunday on Route 7 by the State Highway Patrol for driving 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone, drew a fine of $10 and costs. He pleaded "no contest".

No One Wants A Strike

No one wants an auto strike this year.

Consequently, Chrysler Corp. and United Auto Workers have come to full agreement.

Chances are Ford and General Motors will follow suit.

If that happens, the auto industry will be pinned to a satisfactory agreement for three more years.

The industry is starting its 1965 model year with significant momentum. It is working off its 1964 inventory handily. New models are selling well.

In the auto industry's three-year model cycles, the third year is the big payoff—and 1964 was the payoff year. If 1965, with a drastic change in models, turns into another bonanza year, that will make four fat years back to back. The auto industry never had it so good.

AS FAR AS UAW is concerned, it is basking in presidential favor. Lyndon B. Johnson in the White House and Hubert H. Humphrey running with him on the 1964 Democratic presidential ticket constitute the union's most political setup since Franklin D. Roosevelt and Henry A. Wallace were looking on sitdown strikes in the auto industry with a benign eye in the early organizing days.

As far as auto industry management is concerned, moreover, this is the year when getting along with the White House is even a way of life for some of its key figures. Besides, mass strikes are going out of style, like mass warfare. The thought has come to many minds of the bargaining table simultaneously—that no one wins and everybody loses.

And on top of everything else perches the bugaboo of automation. Organized labor has caught on finally that long work stoppages are a powerful incentive to install still more automated machinery. Saving members' jobs and preserving union treasuries is more important than hitting the bricks.

AS TO THE contract terms between Chrysler Corp. and UAW, it long ago ceased to be the role of outsiders to comment on contract provisions. If Chrysler Corp. agreed to certain terms, instead of precipitating the strike UAW was ready to call, that is a matter between stockholders and management and between management and the union.

Contracts are only relatively, not absolutely, worse or better.

The Chrysler agreement indicates, though it does not guarantee, that Ford, General Motors and the lesser manufacturers will come to comparable terms with the union.

No one wants an auto strike. Consequently, there probably won't be any.

Chrysler is in the bag and chances are the other manufacturers will join it. Chances are, moreover, that all this is going to be done with no increase in the cost of autos, the one thing that might have given the White House cause for alarm.

A Good Idea

It is encouraging to note that several teen-age Chester residents have joined in an organization designed to broaden their interest in politics.

Regardless of political affiliation, youngsters of high school age are doing a service to themselves and to their community by such programs.

The major political parties can only be the better in the future as the result of such teen-agers becoming acquainted early in life with the democratic processes which combine to form the American form of government.

Disagreement

By Truman Twill

My friend said on the telephone he was upset by the discovery this is not the kind of presidential campaign in which people are going to disagree agreeably.

He said he had been shoved to the wall and pinned there, figuratively, under a sign with a dirty name on it for entering a few mild dissents to another friend's political views.

He said this took him by surprise because it wasn't like the discussions he and I customarily have, in which opposing points of view are expressed, with each of us respecting the other's right to be in disagreement.

He wondered if this was going to be good for the Republic and suggested it might be as ghastly as it was when Tories and Revolutionists were incompatible and Copperheads and Unionists went at each other with guns and knives.

HE SUSPECTED that if it turned out to be a campaign in which each side relegated members of the other side to eternal hellfire and wrote them off as traitors, the only winners would be people praying for both sides to lose so they could take over.

He pointed out that his view of the American way of politics called for an endless splitting of differences—government by compromise. Only in this way, he explained, could irreconcilable differences be composed.

The alternative would be the kind of government known too well in the Old World and in the backward republics of the New World. The only way a minority could keep itself from being trampled to death would be to stage a revolution for survival. And the only way a majority could protect itself was to kill off or imprison the minority. It would be absolutism.

This, he thought would be the end of the American dream.

HE WASN'T SURE it would come to this, because he wasn't sure this campaign would turn out to be any wilder than campaigns America had survived in the past. It was the threat of irreconcilability that alarmed him, he declared. Was irreconcilability going to be the trademark of the 1964 campaign?

He had been tagged with a dirty name for disagreeing with an acquaintance of the opposite political persuasion. This concerned him. It made him afraid to open his mouth for fear of being tagged with dirty names by other people whose good will he esteemed and needed to survive in his business.

He did not, after all, think of people who disagreed with him as traitors. He did not think of them as subversives. Not even as knot-heads. He just thought of them as people with different opinions. It's what they seem to be thinking about him that worries him. Is he a Communist when he differs with one of his fellow Americans?

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill: While everyone is gnashing his teeth over the callousness of other people standing by while one woman screamed for help as she was being murdered and while another woman drowned, it might be remembered that this problem goes back at least as far as the Biblical parable of the good Samaritan.

There also have been cases recently in which policemen were beaten up while bystanders did nothing to help the law.

As you pointed out the other day, there may be no excuse for this public apathy, but there may be a lot of explanations, such as a bystander's inability to swim when someone else is drowning.

Nevertheless, it is a heroic trait to help anyone in distress, regardless of personal danger.

ALL OF US have had experiences in which we wish we had given or offered more help. Sadly enough there also have been times when we wished we had minded our own business, although in the instances cited there does not seem to be any good reason why help was not forthcoming.

If you will pardon a personal note, all this reminds me of an experience I had while in grade school, when juvenile delinquency was in its infancy.

Another boy and I had a disagreement in what started out as a friendly wrestling match. He threatened that he would be waiting for me after school and would have a knife, too. Now I would like to say that this did not particularly frighten me, but it did.

All I remember is that, to my great surprise, the school's best athlete and probably strongest pupil, who was a few grades ahead of me, said, "Don't worry I'll walk with you." I do remember how pleased that made me and what a relief it was, so I must have been scared.

Sure enough my idolized protector walked with me the few blocks to the bus stop and sure enough there on the street was the other boy snarling and brandishing what looked like a kitchen paring knife. But he kept his distance and nothing more ever came of it.

That was an early experience with a "good Samaritan."

YOU MAY REMEMBER that Samaritans came from a city named Samaria built in Palestine in the 9th century B.C.

They and the Jews hated each other, and the choice of a Samaritan in the parable has been interpreted to mean that sometimes our greatest succor may come from the lowest and most despised persons.

In the ancient parable, a man was robbed, beaten and left for half dead. Two men crossed the street to pass by him, but the Samaritan not only dressed his wounds but took him to an inn and paid for his care there.

The parallel between modern incidents and ancient ones is constantly amazing.

One thing to keep in mind is that it may not be quite as newsworthy when cries of help are answered as when they are ignored. The Samaritan parable has it both ways.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Odd Facts

The famous GI Bill of Rights sent almost half of all World War II American veterans to schools, colleges and universities after the war and was the largest, most unprecedented adult educational effort in the world. Almost 2,200,000 ex-GI's went to college with its help.

Few motorists realize that about three-fourths of their fuel is composed of the oxygen extracted from the air as they travel along the highways. It is through the union of the oxygen with the carbon and hydrogen of the gasoline line that the power-giving heat is generated.

Opportunity May Be Knocking Again

Doherty—Johnson Troubleshooter

By Victor Riesel

A genial and portly ex-ambassador, once a labor leader, has been quietly troubleshooting for President Johnson — effectively, too, though virtually unnoticed even by many Washington insiders. There is nothing shadowy about him except, perhaps, the fact that those close to the President believe the troubleshooter is in Mr. Johnson's "shadow cabinet" as the next secretary of labor.

Victor Riesel

The unobtrusive troubleshooter, an intimate friend of the President's, is William C. Doherty. He was leader of the Letter Carriers Union for 21 years — until Mr. Johnson got the late John Kennedy to appoint him ambassador to Jamaica. This made Doherty the first union leader to become a major U.S. diplomat.

Of course, all conjecture in White House circles is based on the belief that their chief will be elected. And even if he is, there is the matter of what will happen to the incumbent Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, once a law partner of and chief speech writer for Adlai Stevenson. The scuttlebut is that Mr. Wirtz will eventually go over to the State Department or to the Department of Justice as attorney general.

THIS WOULD open the way for Doherty to take over what I believe to be the most vital domestic post in the nation except, of course, for the presidency. But this lies in the future —and in the hands of the voters.

However, there is significence in Doherty's presence, comparatively unnoticed, in the "shadow cabinet." His presence there reflects Mr. Johnson's theory of practical politics and his reluctance to play it as a loner. Of all the men who ever led labor, Doherty is the best known on the Hill.

He is the unionist who has been closest to the men who really control the inner operations of both houses. And he knows these men, not only as a former labor lobbyist, but as as a close friend.

There is no time day or night when he cannot call on Hubert Humphrey or House Speaker John McCormack or House Majority Floor Leader Carl Albert or many on the Republican side. But what makes him extremely valuable is his relationship with such Southerners as Hale Boggs of Louisiana, majority whip of the House and the influential Olin Johnston, veteran senator from South Carolina.

THIS BLENDING of the twain is what Lyndon Johnson wants. Northern labor and Southern legislators working together is his idea of effective White House influence in the Congress.

There are few men who could effect this for him, perhaps only one — Bill Doherty, who worked so closely with him when he was majority leader of the Senate. After becoming President Mr. Johnson waited but a few months before quietly turning Doherty into his troubleshooter on the Hill.

It happened one night in March when Ambassador Doherty was at the White House for a diplomatic reception. The President called him into an anteroom and asked him to resign the ambassadorship and hit the Hill. Doherty did. One of his first tasks was to lobby quietly for the politically important bill which raised salaries of government workers and congressmen.

AT THE SAME time he methodically began lining up congressional votes for the administration's Economic Opportunity Act — otherwise known as the war on poverty bill. Mr. Johnson is known to have said it might not have passed in its present form if it were not for Bill Doherty. He also lent a very helpful hand on "medicare."

The ex-ambassador took time out of his labors on the Hill to swing into Maryland at Mr. Johnson's request and attempt to break the backlash in working class districts during the primary fight between Alabama's Gov. Wallace and Maryland's Senator Brewster.

Thus Doherty has run interference for Lyndon Johnson without any publicity until now. There is no doubt that if Mr. Johnson is elected, Doherty will be at his side. Obviously Mr. Johnson appears less interested in having a balanced showpiece Cabinet than in having one which will get in there and fight in the political clinches.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I, too, have been in the East Liverpool schools. Quite recently, to be accurate, because I have just graduated this year.

I realize this letter will not sway anyone who is not of the same conviction that I am, but I would like to state the viewpoint of the students of ELHS, or at least some of them.

Not long ago I was talking with a local merchant and several other members of my graduating class. The merchant mentioned that he had heard of a teacher signed to come here this fall who had refused because of Central Building.

Now, think, did we lose much? A teacher who prefers surrounding above the real purpose of his or her profession cannot be totally interested in teaching. I would truthfully say that what ELHS needs in the honest opinion of most of its students is good teachers first, proper equipment second and then a new building. A good teacher can teach in an open field without any of the modern textbooks better than a poor teacher in the most modern of classrooms. We need more good teachers.

We will agree that Central Building is in very bad condition. Why? Three reasons occur to me. One, it is too old. That's not a good reason, because many colleges in an area of 100 miles from here have buildings much older that are in better condition.

Two and three — it was improperly built or has been badly cared for. Then if either of these last two reasons is true, what guarantee do we have that the same thing wouldn't happen again?

I urge the voters of this town to find out the what, why, where, how and when of this proposed new school. Find out where the city wage tax went. Find out if the students themselves would rather have capable teachers or a new building and a football coaching staff with as many members as the whole math department like we had in 1964.

Find out how they plan to keep maintenance up on the new building and what the great difference in costs will be used for.

But mostly, find out everything you can about it before your children's school is located in a place like Westgate or improperly built. You owe it to your children.

Business And Politics

By David Lawrence

Group's Support Of Johnson Stirs Speculation

Why should it occasion so much surprise when a score or more prominent businessmen form a group to work for the election of President Johnson in November? Is it assumed that businessmen always think alike on matters of public policy and that in the past they have unanimously supported the Republican party?

David Lawrence

Unquestionably the preponderant number heretofore have been on the Republican side, and probably still are. It, nevertheless seems to be news when anybody in big business says he prefers to see the present administration continued.

Hence much discussion has ensued among businessmen themselves as to why there not only are "defectors" but that they seem willing to draw attention publicly to their preference.

All sorts of reasons are advanced in explanation of the phenomenon. For one thing, many businessmen who feel that the economic situation is rosy today don't want to see any change which they think could "rock the boat."

Others believe that if businessmen of prominence like themselves line up with the administration, a responsibility will be imposed upon the latter to exercise restraint on the excesses in labor-union policy.

If, for instance, a big company is on the verge of a strike of major proportions, it might be thought better for the management to become friendly with the administration, rather than hostile, so that some governmental intercession in their behalf can be achieved.

IT'S SUGGESTED, too, that with $100 billion to spend every year, the present administration has many worthwhile contracts to hand out for defense and other public projects in which awards are not always made to the lowest bidder.

Some members of Congress have protested against this trend, but it exists nevertheless, and the businessman at the head of an enterprise with a capacity to do a diversified business isn't likely to adopt a course in policy that could be considered unfriendly to the administration in power.

There are, of course, businessmen who are liberals at heart—more of them than there were 25 years ago. They grew up under the New Deal and have come to accept big government as essential to American economic expansion.

Then there are other businessmen who feel that the emergence of big government has made necessary the enlargement even of what is known as big business. Unfortunately for some of these businessmen, the Department of Justice still thinks the antitrust laws can be construed arbitrarily to give the government the right to decide not just what is a monopoly but what is "big" or "too big."

There is hardly an industry that hasn't a few antitrust suits pending against its members in the courts or being prepared through the investigations of the Department of Justice.

CERTAINLY under all such circumstances, it is considered wise by some businessmen to play ball as far as possible with the incumbent administration, especially if it seems likely to continue in office.

The regulatory authority of the federal government, moreover, is extensive today. The Federal Communications Commission has the power of life or death over radio and television stations. Tariff rates and the regulation of imports are handled by federal commissions and departments. These matters can make quite a difference on the profit-and-loss side of a business.

The penetration of government into business is growing and many businessmen want a friend at court whenever they can get one.

Businessmen, as a rule, prefer not to be active in politics. They have, however, watched the labor-union leaders carry on campaigns for the Democratic candidates, and assume that this pays off in favoritism to union labor. So perhaps it is natural for some leaders of industry to conclude that maybe it is time they found a way to make a Democratic administration feel a bit indebted politically to businessmen as well.

ALL THIS can prove largely irrelevant in the matter of total votes. For the top business executives in America constitute a relatively small percentage of the vote in any state.

The important fact to be borne in mind, however, is that business conditions today are good for most businesses, though some large and small companies are experiencing setbacks. If and when the artificial business boom comes to an end in the next year or two, maybe the argument for change in existing economic policies will gain more support. This may then be reflected in a change of political affiliations and a return to the Republican fold of many of the businessmen who today are anxious to stay in the good graces of an incumbent administration.

New Speechwriters

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's a new breed of speechwriters at work.

Just read the speeches by President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater.

They're not like those in 1960 by Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Johnson has become a one-sentence-to-a-paragraph man, with one idea to a sentence.

Take his Labor Day speech in Detroit:

"This is a great day in an historic place.

"Sixteen years ago an American president came here and promised that America would 'enter a new period of hope.'

"You gave him support and he gave you that hope."

Goldwater goes for short sentences, too, but often bunches them in one paragraph.

He tries to give them a roll, a grandeur, with high-sounding abstract words like peace, freedom, liberty.

Here are some from his campaign opener Sept. 3:

"We mean something far different from the opposition party. We mean:

"Peace through preparedness.

"Peace through freedom.

"Purpose through constitutional order.

"These are the themes we shall make resound across this great land of ours, and across an anxious, troubled and listening world."

Kennedy relied on fairly short sentences, but not as terse as Johnson's, and usually packaged them in a paragraph.

Here's Kennedy making a Labor Day speech in Detroit in the 1960 campaign:

"I am taking my case to the American people in the next two months because I believe that the American people should decide which direction this country is going to go. The issue is before you and I am confident that in November you will make a choice for progress, not for standing still."

Kennedy's instinct for clarity and brevity was so good he made up that part of his speech after his prepared speech had been released to the press.

The prepared one wasn't that simple, that quick:

"I am taking my case to the American people because that is where it belongs — because that is where there will be no threat of veto or parliamentary obstruction — and because that is where we can always place our confidence."

Because Nixon lacked Kennedy's sense of composition, he didn't get across as easily as Kennedy, and maybe that's one of the things that hurt him.

His sentences were often too stretched, as one of his first 1960 speeches shows:

"I call upon all the people here, whether you are Republicans or Democrats or independents, to hear what I have to say, to hear me on the issues, and then to make your decision — not on the basis of the party label, even though you happen to be a member of my party — but on the basis of whether you think what I stand for is best for America."

The trouble with Johnson's bang-bang-bang is that he may make people hard of hearing.

And Goldwater may put them to sleep if he keeps playing that peace-liberty-freedom record over and over, as he says he will.

Resignation Accepted

Teacher Quits, Cites Transfer

The resignation of a Westgate Junior High teacher was accepted "without prejudice" at the special meeting of the Board of Education Wednesday night after the instructor personally advised the board of his reasons for quitting.

Dan R. Fisher, who had resigned in May as head basketball coach at Westgate, explained to the board he quit because of a change in assignments which was not made definite until mid-August.

FISHER HAD been transferred from Westgate to the high school as a social studies teacher, a position which he told the board he didn't believe he could fill.

"I did not quit because I had another job. I had no other choice," Fisher said, telling the board, "I don't believe I was treated fairly or in a professional manner in that I was informed about the change so late. It has left me without a job this year."

Filling in board members on the background, Supt. Paul H. Blair declared, "The change was an administrative decision; one that had to be made."

When Fisher quit as basketball coach, his resignation, the superintendent said, declared he was resigning "to help expedite the current athletic policies of the administration and the Board of Education."

—:—

"NEITHER this administration nor board ever has adopted a policy or given any indication it is attempting to push someone out of a job," Blair commented.

"Applicants for coaching positions generally are certified to teach social studies or physical education," the superintendent explained, declaring it is unusual to find a coach qualified in another field.

Blair said he waited as long as possible before conferring with Fisher and informing him of the possibility he would be moved to the high school.

It was the only discussion the two had, Blair said, declaring he told the instructor that if the change didn't have to be made he would remain at Westgate.

Reviewing his qualifications, Blair said, "I certainly believe he is qualified to teach social studies in the high school."

FISHER resigned on Aug. 18, the day following the last board meeting, Blair said, and on the following day he was notified by David L. Wunderlich, who had been elevated to head cage coach, that he was also resigning to accept a position as assistant varsity coach in his hometown of Donora.

Because of Fisher's resignation, the superintendent said a teacher who had been scheduled to teach sixth grade social studies at Westgate has been moved to the high school.

Commenting, Fisher said, "I seem to be made out the villian," adding that when a head coach in a sport resigns it is customary for other coaches to also quit. (He was referring to the resignation of James Harris as varsity coach.)

In addition, the instructor said Thomas H. Dixon, Westgate principal, was "well informed" that last season was his final season as a coach.

"WHEN coaching becomes a business, that's too much," Fisher said. "There were things I did that I felt I shouldn't have to do."

Questioned by board members, Fisher said, "For any junior high basketball program to have merit, the coach must not be taken away from his duties to perform duties for the varsity team."

After Fisher said his primary concern was to see that his record showed the correct reason for his resignation, Samuel W. Brown moved that it be accepted without prejudice.

Blair said the instructor already has been given his certifications. "If he desires a letter of recommendation, I will be happy to provide one."

The board also formally accepted Wunderlich's resignation.

Raymond (Pick) Rolley, a teacher at Westgate, was named head coach to succeed Wunderlich.

The board also approved the appointments of Robert McMahan as a junior high teacher and Mrs. Thelma Goodman as an elementary instructor.

Park Water Line Project Started

Work has started on the installation of a water line into Hammond Park at Wellsville, according to Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare.

The tap has been made on the main. Service will be provided to the two pavilions and other locations throughout the park.

The only water at the park in the past has been from a pump, which was continually being broken by vandals.

After the water is in, the Hammond Park Commission has made arrangements to have a couple reside in the park to guard the facilities.

The director also said that the Pennsylvania Railroad has started rebuilding a spur line along Lisbon St., which is barricaded between 3rd and 4th Sts.

The phase will take about three weeks, railroad officials said.

Bob Lewis, county extension agent in 4-H work, said delegates will include:

Linda Wilms of Leetonia R. D. 1; Candy Hill of Lisbon R. D. 5; Ruth Campbell of Salem R. D. 3; Janice Moore of Lisbon R. D. 5; Shirley Pancake of Negley R. D. 1; Ted Owens of East Liverpool R. D. 1; Tom Mollenkopf of East Palestine R. D. 1; Harrold Rhoads of Leetonia R. D. 1, and David Herron of Salem R. D. 2.

The theme will be "Enter to Learn—Depart to Serve."

Delegates become more familiar with law-making processes and take part in a mock legislative session during one of the meetings.

Rep. Clarence (Dutch) Wetzel of Lisbon, county representative, was present at an earlier meeting of the delegates and discussed the State Legislature so they would be familiar with its activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilms of Leetonia R. D. 1 and Miss Charlene McKarns of Hanoverton R. D. 1 will accompany the group.

Norm Brandl holds the all-time Lehigh career scoring records. Brandl averaged 20.2 points per game during his three - year varsity career from 1959-62 when he scored 1,231 points.

3 Fined As Drag Racers; More Due In Crackdown

Hancock County authorities have begun a campaign aimed at arrest of young motorists reportedly using a section of the Route 30 Chester Hill as a dragstrip.

Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland fined three drivers for violations on Route 30 at hearings Tuesday, and the office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny is to serve five other warrants issued for "reckless and hazardous driving in the vicinity of the Terrace Lanes bowling alley" on the grade near Chester.

County constables are also aiding in the arrest of hot-rodders.

Dennis Wells, 23, of Newell posted $113 bond for a hearing next Tuesday before Squire Herron on a charge of reckless driving on Route 30. The squire said this is the second offense.

Richard Rhodes, 17, of Chester was fined $50 and costs for reckless driving on Route 30, and Earl Fisher, 26, of Weirton R. D. 1, $20 and costs for driving left of center and $10 and costs for no registration card. Fisher was cited on Kings Creek Rd. near Weirton.

John B. Sawicky, 18, of Bentleyville, Pa., forfeited $65 bond on charges of hazardous driving and no operator's license. He was cited on Route 30.

David J. Mega, 21, of Follansbee was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of tampering with a motor vehicle.

The complaint was signed by Cecil Owens of New Cumberland. Mega and a 17-year-old Follansbee boy were allegedly caught in the garage of Owens Aug. 21 at 1:30 a. m. The youngster was bound to juvenile court and Mega has filed notice of appeal of the fine and jail term to Circuit Court.

John D. Anderson, 17, of New Cumberland, R. D. 1 was fined $50 and costs on a charge of hazardous driving on Chestnut St. in New Cumberland. The complaint was brought by Ralph Ware.

When the Pirates made their final trip of the season to Philadelphia and beat Dennis Bennett in late August it marked the 17th straight incomplete game for the young southpaw pitcher.

Taylor Set To End Talks On Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor winds up four days of Washington talks today in an atmosphere of guarded optimism over prospects for the antiguerrilla campaign in South Viet Nam.

While Secretary of State Dean Rusk scheduled a late morning news conference, Taylor planned to testify before closed sessions of the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs committees.

The ambassador was slated to leave Washington by plane early this evening to return to troubled Saigon.

The focus of attention in the broad administration review of the South Viet Nam situation since Taylor's arrival Monday has been on political stability there.

In the U S. view, the Southeast Asian country needs a strong central government under good leadership to cope with the Communist insurgents. After more than two weeks of political turmoil, Premier Nguyen Khanh is once again emerging in control and he has U.S. backing.

The U.S. reappraisal climaxed Wednesday — first with a session between President Johnson, his top military and diplomatic advisers and Taylor, and then by a two-hour meeting of 14 congressional leaders at the White House to hear from the ambassador.

The President told newsmen after the bipartsian legislative leadership session that Taylor had reported "continued progress in the field in the Vietnames earmy's fight against the Communist Viet Cong."

Both Johnson and Taylor indicated after the review that American policy would continue bascially along present lines — large-scale U.S. assistance to help the South Vietnamese government stamp out the guerrillas within its borders.

Steps Up Criticism Of Johnson

Goldwater Carries Drive Into Three More States

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, stepping up his criticism of President Johnson's actions at home and abroad, today swings into Idaho, Montana and Minnesota.

"The Republican party this year is not going to be a me-too party," Goldwater said Wednesday. To emphasize his point, he whacked away at Johnson in every direction, especially at his foreign policy.

"We are not going to be diverted," he told a standing-room-only crowd of more than 14,000 at Seattle's Coliseum.

"Foreign policy is an issue. It is going to remain an issue—right up until the moment this administration finally gets around to doing something that really serves the cause of freedom in this world."

Goldwater said Democrats had used foreign crises for political gain, and declared: "Americans must be prepared, under such an administration, to be faced by crisis of some sort just before an election."

Goldwater was expected to keep hammering at Johnson today. His schedule called for stops at Boise, Idaho; Great Falls, Mont.; and then a major speech in Minneapolis tonight.

On this Western trip the Republican presidential candidate has been passing through territory captured by Richard M. Nixon in 1960, but in Minnesota he will be in the heart of Democratic territory. The state went for John F. Kennedy in the last election, has a Democratic governor, and two Democratic senators, one of whom is Hubert H. Humphrey, Lyndon B. Johnson's vice presidential running mate.

For the second night in a row Goldwater had a tremendous crowd. As in Los Angeles Tuesday night, each person was charged $1 for a ticket.

Goldwater lit into foreign affairs immediately. He claimed the Cuban crisis — which caused the late President John F. Kennedy to cut short a campaign tour of the West — proved two things.

"First, of course, it proved that an administration which long had planned on the basis that the Soviet never would move missiles into this hemisphere, was dead and dangerously wrong," Goldwater said.

"And it proved that despite weeks, and months, of warning about the missiles, an administration totally political in its goals and instincts could and would wait until the perilous last moment to take action — take action at a time that would have maximum political impact."

Goldwater said he had appointed a commission, headed by Richard M. Nixon, to study peace and freedom and make suggestions to him. Its job: "A serious and historically significant attempt to regroup freedom's badly scattered forces while there is still time."

As Goldwater worked his way north his trip took on all the characteristics of a campaign in full swing.

Young Mother Takes Charge Of Her Life

If reducing were easy there would be no real need for this column. Even so, it is not as difficult to lose weight as you may imagine.

Ida Jean Kain

Actually, the hardest part is in making up your mind to take charge of your life and carry through on a course of action.

If you have been overweight for many unhappy years, you may feel hopelessly stuck with your burden of fat. But then you read that someone else with your same weight problem is at long last losing successfully, and suddenly your hope is renewed. This column then becomes a means of communication.

FERRET OUT why you tend to eat excessively at certain times when you truly want to lose. Enlightenment can make all the difference. This point is clearly illustrated in the following letter from a young mother who is 28, 5'5" tall, and did weigh 248 pounds:

"I will try to encourage others and at the same time help myself. I have never been normal weight. Two years ago — went on a diet. I stuck with it and lost 70 pounds. At that time I weighed 238 and reduced to 168. Two years later I was back to 248 pounds. . .10 pounds more than I had ever weighed!

" 'Why? How?" I asked myself. The second question was easy to answer — continuous overeating. But why? I found that I turned to eating excessively when nervous or out of sorts. I am now on guard against falling into that fattening trap. When I feel nervous I have a glass of skim milk or buttermilk and drink it slowly.

"I know I am on the right track. Being aware of what I tend to do has helped me enormously, and the urge to stuff at these times really has almost disappeared. Right at first I had to make this a challenge.

"To all your readers I would like to say I have found that it is no use to start a diet unless your mind is made up to stay with your plan. I don't mean that you tell your friends you would like to reduce but diet doesn't work for you. I had that attitude, too, and it's no help!

"WHAT DOES help is to pinpoint at what times you slip, and reason out why. This enlightenment can be a real eye-opener. Knowing I'm to weigh in on Monday is a curb over the week-end.

"Eat good food, and be sure to have a protein food at each meal. With four children to look after, I can't afford to lessen my energy and endanger my health. After just six weeks I feel better. I have lost 24 pounds and now weigh 224. I am not ashamed of my overweight the way I used to be. I know at long last that I am on my way to healthy weight and a happy future.

"I would like to hear from someone who has the same problem as I have. Perhaps we could help each other."

Cheers for this courageous young mother. I have promised to forward your letters to her.

Enrollment's Up In Beaver Local

Beaver Local School District's enrollment today was listed at 2,470 students, up from the 2,439 of last year, but not as high as anticipated by school officials.

However, additional students are expected to report to school this week, Roy Cashdollar, executive head, said.

At the high school, 508 students were signed, but 541 were expected.

The enrollment at the other schools shows 848 at the Public School, 539 at Calcutta, 176 at West Point, 257 at Rogers and 147 at Elkton.

There are 227 first graders, Cashdollar reported.

Lower Named Secretary Of Lisbon C. C.

LISBON — Floyd Lower, 373 E. Chestnut St., retired Columbiana County extension service agent and chairman of the Columbiana County Planning Commission, has accepted the post of executive secretary of the Lisbon Area Chamber of Commerce.

Lower consented to assume the position on a temporary basis.

One of his initial moves will be to collect all information about the Lisbon area that would be of value to an industry that may be considering a move, possibly to this area. He will ask Lisbon area residents to co-operate in compiling the material, along with information on the area's labor force and skilled workers.

All prospective buildings and sites will be catalogued as information for new industries.

Lower, former national Ruritan Club president will continue with his other activities, including the Planning Commission and his duties as secretary - treasurer of the Columbiana County Forest and Parks Council, which presently includes the restoration of Gaston's Mill in Beaver Creek State Park.

His new headquarters will be in Mayor Dean Stockman's office in the Village Hall.

Fire Damages Truck

EAST PALESTINE — A tanker truck operated by Jerry F. Wentz, 43, of 410 E. Martin St. was damaged in the cab by flames from a wiring short circuit while he was traveling on Route 14 Wednesday.

Centralized School Plan Explained By McConville

The reasons for planning centralized elementary schools rather than building new neighborhood schools were outlined today by Harry McConville, member of the East Liverpool School District Board of Education.

Three centralized schools — for the East End, North Side and northwest area — are included in a proposed school bond issue program on which voters will ballot Tuesday.

McConville pointed out the State Department of Education would not allocate state assistance on schools which would house less than 700 pupils. None of the schools which the new buildings would replace would have such an enrollment, he said.

Furthermore, it would be much more expensive to build four new schools in the East End, for example, than it would to build one centralized school.

It would be cheaper to heat, provide lighting and maintain one building than four, he said.

In addition, an improved teaching program would be available, with better use made of specialized teachers in one building instead of traveling among the schools, and new teaching methods undertaken with groups of teachers or special groups of students.

Use of a single centralized building would reduce the pedestrian risk of students in auto traffic in neighborhood streets.

It would be cheaper to construct and equip cafeterias at the single schools than at four schools, and the board feels a cafeteria program will greatly benefit the students through a balanced meal program, McConville said.

McConville declared many students are not getting satisfactory food at noon, and this could be remedied by a cafeteria.

He also said the physical fitness program would be aided by the single schools which would have a larger play area and better indoor facilities.

"The recommendation of the state authorities and most education experts is for centralized schools where special facilities, teachers, equipment and space provide a better, more varied program for students."

"A close teacher - pupil relationship is available in a centralized elementary school along with the many other educational aids from special teachers and programs needed under a modern system," he concluded.

NAACP Cuts Young, Taft As Speakers

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— Incumbent Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young and his Republican opponent, Rep. Robert Taft Jr., have been dropped as speakers at the upcoming state National Association for the Advancement of Colored People convention in Toledo because of an NAACP policy.

"I had no choice but to cancel both speaking engagements because of our policy keeping candidates for political office from appearing at our state conventions," Nathaniel C. Lee, president of the state conference of the NAACP, said Wednesday night.

"I notified both and both acknowledged receipt of my letter, saying they had looked forward to it but regretted it was not possible."

He said Young and Taft had been signed up as speakers for the three-day convention long before the NAACP national convention adopted its policy on political speeches at a meeting in Washington in June.

Young was scheduled to address the state organization which claims 43,000 members at the opening session Sept. 18 and Taft at the closing one Sept. 20.

Lee, a bricklayer at the U.S. Steel Corp. plant here, will replace Young as the keynote speaker. Dr. John W. Davis, former president of West Virginia State College, will substitute for Taft. Davis is now on the legal defense and educational committee of the NAACP.

Lee denied reports that any political party or any other organization had anything to do with the speaking cancellations.

"I consulted with my national office after this situation arose and this was the only thing to do," said Lee.

PLEASE . . . DON'T HURT MY LITTLE GIRL

Yesterday, my 7 year old daughter started back to school. She was primped up in a blue dress with white collar, blue gloves and black shoes. "Scoot", her spaniel sat on the porch and whined, as she waved goodbye.

Last night, we talked about school. About the new girl with yellow curls, about the big girls who didn't believe in Santa Claus, about the teacher with eyes in the back of her head. We talked about many vital things, studied Reading and Spelling, then, off to bed.

She's asleep now, with her doll "Princess" cuddled in her arm. As her mother, I'm worried. You see, I can fix things when she cuts her finger or bumps her head. But when she's off to school, crossing streets, she's in YOUR hands. You won't hurt her, will you?

She's sweet, precious, and we love her so. Runs like a deer, active as a chipmunk. Likes to swim and go on hikes with her Daddy. But, we can't be with her all the time.

PLEASE help us look out for her. PLEASE Drive Carefully, slowly past schools and intersections. And PLEASE remember that children do run from behind parked cars.

PLEASE DON'T HURT MY LITTLE GIRL!

The Age of Technology

We live in an age of moon shots and vaccines for poliomyelitis — an age of astounding scientific discovery! And wonderfully for us, the benefits of science overlap, so that the phenomenal light beam called the "laser," which was discovered in an electronics lab, now serves the brain surgeon in his delicate operations.

Today, in our own pharmacy, we have "miracle" medicines resulting not only from medical research, but research in all fields. It's a good feeling to know these are available to you if and when your doctor prescribes.

Miss America Contestants Lead Busy, Exciting Week

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A Miss America contestant leads a glamorous and exciting life but by the end of the week, one of the most coveted prizes is the opportunity to sleep an extra hour.

The girls vying for the crown in the nation's oldest beauty contest are whirled through a hectic schedule from the time they check in Monday until they leave Sunday afternoon. Their every move is fitted into a timetable that would make an efficiency expert green with envy.

A full day of continually posing for pictures, giving interviews, rehearsing talent, and competing is enough to give the young beauties shadows under their eyes.

"I'm having a great time but I wish I could get a little more sleep," said Miss Connecticut, Honorar Bukowski of Wallingford, echoing the sentiments of the 50 beauties in the contest.

Miss Ohio, Diane Courtright of Columbus, said: "It seems like I just get in bed and it's time to get up again."

Through it all the girls wear a broad smile.

Most of the girls rise at dawn to be ready when their hostesses call at 8:30 a.m. to take them to Convention Hall.

At the hall they rehearse, then go through their individual routines.

When the girls catch a break in rehearsal, they usually find photographers and reporters waiting for them.

The girls go to dinner between 6:15 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Then comes the night's competition, usually until 11:15 p.m. Then it's more interviews and pictures.

Is the tiring week worth it?

There's a $10,000 scholarship and an estimated $80,000 in personal appearance contracts for the girl chosen Miss America. There's also about $40,000 in scholarships to be divided among the losers.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: When my last baby started teething, I found something new to replace the teething rings which are often used.

I put a few ounces of water, juice, or whatever liquid the baby will like, in a plastic baby bottle, put the nipple on, and put the bottle in the freezer upside down.

When it is frozen, I remove it from the freezer and the baby really goes for this!

As the ices dissolves, he drinks the liquid and at the same time, he isn't fussing because of sore gums.

MOTHER OF SEVEN.

This is a darling idea.

We found that you could scald a tiny jelly glass and set the bottle upside down in this so the nipple wouldn't collapse. It is also more sanitary.

The nipple is as hard as a rock to begin with and as the bottom of the bottle contains no frozen water, etc., it isn't too cold for the baby's hands. If you found it bo be so, it could be covered with a baby's sock.

Thanks, mommie, and kiss all seven siblings for us, then give your husband a hug.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: After you have saved two plastic lids from coffee cans, cut both ends out of one can and place the plastic lids on the two open ends of the coffee can. Decorate the can if you wish.

Give a child two sticks . . . and let him beat, beat, beat his new drum!

ESTELLE LIPA.

Estelle, this beats any idea we've had for ages. It doesn't take a child long to "beat in" some of the drums we buy and this type of drum should be very durable.

And we found a great thumping noise when we tried them for bongo drums. Try that! Also, if you use a two-pound and a one pound can, you get two different tones.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I save old shower curtains, wash them and cut off any part which might not be good, then make the rest of the curtain into bags (about the size of pillowcases) sewing and hemming them on my sewing machine.

I use them for blanket bags. I fold the open end of the bag and fasten it with paper clips after inserting the blanket.

Also, old shower curtains or plastic table cloths are good for wrapping cots, picnic baskets, etc., to keep them clean. And they are good to lay on the ground or garage floor under that mechanic who works on his car at home.

PAT.

DEAR HELOISE: Date all medicine when it is purchased. Adhesive tape is ideal to write on for such a job.

This way you will know how long you have had the item, and when to throw it away.

When you do throw away medicines, flushing them down the toilet will prevent children from getting them. Also, it is wise to wash the empty containers before throwing them away . . . just an extra, safety precaution.

MARGARET SMITH.

DEAR HELOISE: Before washing socks, I pair them and pin them together with safety pins, then toss them into the washer.

I leave the socks pinned together when hanging them out to dry and when I bring them in to put them away.

No more lonely socks waiting for a mate!

DEAR HELOISE: A neat and handy way to store paper bags to use in kitchen garbage cans:

Cover a paper shopping bag with pretty leftover material (for added strength), attach a spray of artificial flowers for color, and hang the bag in a convenient place in the kitchen.

I also put a small pocket on one side of the shopping bag for rubber bands from the daily newspaper.

It is attractive and convenient, and there are no more paper bags sliding around.

MRS. J. MATAS.

"I feel very good and I'll be back to normal in two or three days," said Mrs. Menzi, who is white and the wife of an Episcopal priest.

Mrs. Menzi said she was not especially happy in losing 15 pounds "because I wasn't very heavy to begin with." It was her first hunger strike, she said, adding she would do it again if "necessary."

Mrs. Menzi and other members of the Congress of Racial Equality ended their eight-day sit-in at City Hall Wednesday night after a City Council committee ordered an investigation into slum housing in Cincinnati.

Caution On St. Clair Urged Of Motorists

Because of the opening of Taft School, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey today appealed for motorists to use extreme caution in traveling St. Clair Ave., where construction work is under way.

Because most of the work is on the east side of the thoroughfare, children now must walk on the west side of the street and then cross back to the school at Maplewood Ave., he explained. An adult crossing guard operates a traffic signal at the intersection.

The youngsters formerly avoided crossing the heavily-traveled street by remaining on the east side where they could walk along the former street car right-of-way.

Opposes Sales Tax Increase

Ohio AFL-CIO Pushes For State Tax Reform

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio AFL-CIO pushed for state tax reform today while emphasizing a strong opposition to any move for increasing the sales tax.

The recommendation for reform of the tax structure was among almost a score of suggestions prepared for delivery at the opening day of public hearings by the state Democratic platform committee.

Presenting the labor association's proposals was its secretary-treasurer, Robert D. Bollard.

Bollard said Ohio's tax structure depends heavily on regressive taxes such as the sales tax and "hits hardest at those in the lower income groups."

He said since everyone pays at the same rate, those earning lower incomes are paying a higher percentage of that in taxes.

The AFL-CIO stand against an increased sales tax puts the labor group in conflict with some education organizations, notably the Ohio Education Association, which is campaigning for a hike in the sales tax to assist public education.

"Organized labor in Ohio has traditionally backed adequate support of education at all levels and it will continue to do so," Bollard commented. "But it will also insist that the burden of such support be fairly shared by all income groups."

He said the state AFL-CIO "strongly opposes the enactment, extension or increase of existing regressive taxes such as the sales tax. The Ohio AFL-CIO stands ready to join with any group interested in establishing a fair tax structure."

Other platform recommendations presented to the 24-member committee included:

—An increase in the weekly unemployment insurance maximum to two-thirds of the average weekly wage of workers covered by the law and extension of the maximum payment period to 39 weeks.

—An increase in the weekly workmen's compensation maximum to 75 per cent of the injured worker's weekly wage.

—A state minimum wage law. "Assuming a 40-hour week, it would take $1.50 per hour to bring a family out of the poverty classification."

— More liberal registration and election laws.

—Fair housing legislation.

—Extension of classified civil service status to all public employes and legislation making them eligible for social security and unemployment insurance.

—Appropriations to provide adequate educational opportunities for Ohioans.

— Reapportionment of the state legislature and congressional redistricting in line with decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Waggoner told police he was attempting to make a right turn into a service station when Glasure passed him on the right, striking his auto.

Glasure said Waggoner was sitting near the traffic signal signaling a left turn onto E. 5th St. As he started around on the right, Waggoner suddenly turned to the right, he said.

Robert Anderson, 54, of 1013 Monaca St. told police his parked sedan was struck by a hit-skip motorist on Smith St. yesterday afternoon.

Anderson told police another man gave him the license number of the other car. Police said it is registered to an Elysian Way resident.

This city of 15,000, getting ready for its 400th anniversary celebration after a summer of racial turmoil, was first struck by Dora early Wednesday.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD K. DOAN

Freedom From Time's Tyranny

Herbert Brodkin, producer of "The Defenders" and "The Nurses," has sold CBS on letting him try a new gambit in TV drama in the fall of next year: Teleplays running from 90 minutes to four hours in length, presented weekly in one-hour chapters.

The idea behind it is to free writers of TV stories from "tyranny of the clock."

FOR EXAMPLE, if the full development of a drama were deemed to require 2½ hours, one hour of it would be presented the first week, another hour the second week and the final 30 minutes the third week. A new drama would be launched in the last half hour of the third week.

Michael Dann, CBS programming vice president, said it was possible the network, on occasion, might pre-empt other programs in order to run one of the Brodkin dramas in full on one evening. He said it was too early, however, to promise this.

The series will be called "The Quest" and will feature a star, yet to be picked, in a continuing role.

BRODKIN vowed that, although the series has been in development for six years, he has not yet decided what sort of character the star will portray.

" 'The Quest' will be very different from our other series and, indeed, from any series on the air," he promised. 'Seeking an end to the tyranny of the 60-minute hour almost could be cited as an example of the kind of search we'll dramatize on 'The Quest.' "

He described the typical storyline envisioned as a "search for the unobtainable. . . the search for the Holy Grail or the plot of 'The Baltese Falcon' equally typify the theme."

-:-

THE PRODUCER characterized the undertaking on the whole as "an attempt on a quality basis to do a show the way it ought to be done in terms of content and length."

He said the idea had been "rejected by some of the biggest people in the business" before CBS finally bought it.

He hopes to begin production next January. Some of the dramas will be filmed in New York and England and elsewhere, but most will be shot on the Paramount "backlot" in Hollywood. Brodkin is president of Plautus Productions, which is a subsidiary of Paramount Pictures.

-:-

THE SERIES will be produced by Herbert Hirschman, Brodkin's overseer this past season on the "Espionage" series.

George Weltner, president of Paramount, said in answer to a question that it was "very possible" some of the "quest" dramas would be distributed by the studio as theatrical movies.

-:-

THE TV NETWORKS are going to be cagey about "declaring winners" on election night Nov. 3, but it's just a matter of semantics. All three networks will be televising computerized projections of early vote totals or predictions based on computer data.

Those were the indications following a series of appearances by top network executives before a Governors' Conference committee.

The governors were concerned about the possible influence of Eastern vote projections on voting in the West where polls are still open.

In particular the governors, according to network sources, were concerned about tactics such as CBS employed in California last June when Barry Goldwater was declared winner of the primary before northern California polls closed.

ABC AND NBC officials said they had assured the governors that their networks, while reporting computer findings Nov. 3, will not "declare" winners.

A CBS spokesman said "exact phrasing" of that network's projections for broadcast purposes is yet to be determined.

CBS will "declare winners" on a state-by-state basis, but not nationally, he explained. He conceded, however, that CBS might announce a presidential choice when a majority of electoral votes has been determined on the basis of state-by-state projections.

Bringing Up Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Book Display Stirs Love Of Reading

If you live in a school district with good educational leadership, you may see in every kindergarten and primary classroom a low, round table covered with many books and children's magazines. Here, little children handle these books and look at the pictures.

Dr. Garry Myers

A few children in the kindergarten can read from them; more in the first grade can; and still more in the second and third grade.

A child at this table may ask an adult to read to him from one of these books.

Every kindergarten and primary grade should have such a table of books.

THE CHILD who's too young to read gets from them a fondness of books and a wish to learn to read them.

The child just beginning to read finds something different from his school books.

The child who can read well may be happy to find so many interesting things to read. The important thing is that each child can choose what he likes best.

It would be even better if, in the same building, there were a children's library in which the child who could read might find still more books appealing to him; and be able to borrow a book to take home.

But suppose you lived in a crowded and deprived area. You would rarely find this table of books for young children in any classroom. Yet here is the place where such a table could be most useful.

If you are a kindergarten teacher or a primary grade teacher in such an area, why not see what can be done to help provide your classroom with a table of books?

IF YOU are a member of a club or PTA in your school community, why not give consideration to this matter? What a service you might render if, as a member of a club or PTA in a well - off community, you were to influence your organization to provide a table of books for young children in a deprived area.

Suppose you were a principal of a school in the slums. One of the most rewarding things you could do would be to initiate a program to have a table of books installed for your youngest group of school children.

I keep thinking of the superintendent of schools in a large community which includes some deprived areas. He is under constant pressure to provide special opportunities in school areas that are already blessed with much more than the average school services.

The school superintendent may not have many pressures to establish free nursery schools or kindergartens in the deprived areas, or special services like the table of books, when such services are not available for all schools of the district. If these services are to be established, he may have to provide the initiative and leadership.

PERHAPS the day will come in every school district when the youngest children of the most deprived areas will have the highest type of school services.

As I have said in this column before, education has its most effective influence on the home and community when it can reach little children, not only of kindergarten and primary school ages, but also of much younger ages. The younger the child, the closer the teacher gets to his parents and his home.

Weirton 2nd In State For Wager Stamp

Weirton, fifth largest city in West Virginia, ranks second in the number of holders of federal wagering tax stamps.

According to records of the Internal Revenue Service, the Hancock County city lists 33 stamps, five less than last year.

The federal gambling stamps cost $50 and protect the holders from federal prosecution on such activities as bookmaking, numbers writing, punch boards and tip boards.

However, the stamps do not provide protection from state or county authorities, as such activities are a violation of West Virginia gaming laws.

Records show the only other holder of a federal wagering tax stamp in the county outside of Weirton is Cora Turley of S. Chester St., New Cumberland.

Fairmont leads the state in wagering tax stamps with 36, and Wheeling is third with 25, although there are six other stamp holders in Ohio County outside the corporate limits of Wheeling.

Weirton Woman Given WVU Post

Mrs. John B. Stanklewicz of Weirton has received a three-year appointment to the Hancock County Extension Service Committee, representing the Board of Governors of West Virginia University.

She filled one of her first obligations Tuesday in attending the information meeting on the Opportunity Act at WVU, along with Mrs. Ruth McPherson, county 4-H agent, G. E. Walters and Ray Shaw of the County Planning Commission.

The largest areas of the Opportunity Act are youth and community action programs to help disadvantaged people to help themselves. The old CCC camp idea is being revised and the goal is to have 40,000 youths in forest camps by winter, according to Oliver Johnson, county agricultural agent.

Another project is job training centers for youth to be established around metropolitan areas. The office of the Opportunity Act will deal with only one organization in the county.

Lisbon Bus Policy Explained To Parents

LISBON — School Supt. Oliver Payne reported he has met with residents to try and solve the school bus problems in two areas that formerly picked up children. He said that since Lisbon dropped one bus and driver, several changes were necessary because they could not pick up all the students as they did last year.

He said a study of this situation is continuing in efforts to reach a solution. Students residing within a mile radius can be picked up but the school is not reimbursed for their fares, so if the bus is full these students must walk this year and parents feel it is creating a hardship.

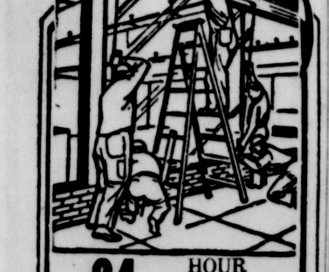

Lisbon is submitting a levy on the Nov. 3 ballot for additional operating expense, so that the situation may be corrected at that time—if it passes.

'Education' Plan Aimed At Ohio's Young Drinkers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Donald D. Cook, state liquor director, has been occupied for weeks now trying to form an "overall approach" to the teenage drinking problem. He had some ideas on the subject Wednesday.

First, he reported, he will propose that the Department of Liquor Control work in cooperation with the State Department of Education, the Department of Highway Safety and the alcohol unit of the Department of Health in getting a program together.

"After all, our main concern —as a department—is with enforcement, but we aren't foolish enough to believe that this is the entire answer," Cook said. "If we can work with these other departments in setting up some program of education on both the legal and social aspects of drinking, then I think we may get somewhere."

This week his department began mailing some 1,600 posters to various high schools and colleges in the state, listing the penalties for underage buyers of liquor and beer. Cook said a recent survey among nearly 500 school administrators and law enforcement heads disclosed "a pressing need for some sort of educational program on the laws and penalties."

He said they found that both the youngsters and their parents are not aware of the law, and in some cases, the parents are not even aware that their children are drinking.

Among police chiefs and sheriffs who answered a questionnaire, nearly 60 per cent cited 3.2 beer sale as an "enforcement headache."

The liquor director said he is taking no stand on the suggestion that 3.2 beer sales be outlawed completely in the state.

Crucible Screen News Films Available Again To Schools

This week marks the beginning of the fifth consecutive year that schools in this area will receive, for classroom showing, monthly Screen News Digest Films donated by the Crucible Steel Co.

First films of the new school year were distributed this week. A. L. Breakiron, supterinendent of community relations, presented the first of the new films to Howard E. Thorne of Beaver, program specialist of the Beaver County Board of Education, who directs the Instructional Materials Center at Monaca. The center distributes the films to area high schools in Beaver County.

The film was also distributed to the superintendent of East Liverpool public schools. The films are available to all schools —public and parochial—in the Midland, East Liverpool and Beaver areas and may be obtained for showing by contacting the East Liverpool school superintendent's office or the Beaver County instructional materials center.

The first film of the new school year, titled: "Viet Nam —Why?", is a report on the fate and future of that embattled republic.

Released in 10 monthly issues during the school year, the aim of this film program is to provide students with an awareness of significant current events and an understanding of their impact on the lives of all.

Forthcoming issues of the series will turn to history, both present and past, to provide a graphic supplement for classroom use and discussion. The Screen News Digest reviews the background of today's happenings to provide a guide to the developments that can be expected in the future.

Accompanying the films are pamphlets containing a discussion outline and a synopsis of contents. The outline is prepared and edited to help teachers and students make the most intelligent use of the films.

The synopsis of contents include a detailed summary of the featured "Focus Story" and background information on its main points. Important persons, places and facts of each current film are listed on the back page. There are questions based on the film and ideas for round table discussions, study assignments and compositions. A bibliography is provided for supplementary reading.

The "Looking Ahead" department of the pamphlet alerts schools to the "Focus Story" that will appear the following month.

Wheat Date Sept. 26 To Avoid Hessian Fly

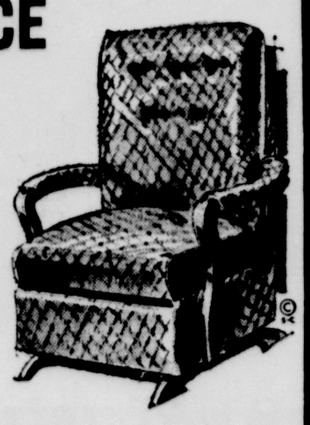

LISBON — Sept. 26 has been set as the "safe" date for sowing wheat in Columbiana County to avoid damage by the Hessian fly, Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture, has been advised.

When wheat is planted on or after this indicated date, the yield will be free from economical damage from the fly, as research indicates yields are best when wheat is sown according to the safe date.

When it is necessary to plant wheat before the safe date, it is recommended a Hessian fly resistant variety be planted. Resistant varieties recommended for Ohio are Monon, Red Coat and Reed, Myers said.

HOW WELL HE DOES IN SCHOOL MAY BE DECIDED BY HIS HEALTH and each BLOOR'S Pharmacist takes a personal responsibility in safeguarding your youngster's health!

Youngsters today get a better break than their parents or grandparents did. They're better fed, better housed and better cared for. Yet in today's competitive world, they must have the very best "breaks" we can give them . . . both for their success as individuals and for the vital part they'll play in the future of our country.

But we can't put pressure on them in their academic work until we make sure that no un-noticed physical defect or health disturbance can develop into a major drawback in their school progress.

Many children have already had a check-up by their family doctor . . . but if your child hasn't, don't wait for poor grades to indicate poor health . . . get him or her to your family doctor now.

If your doctor should give you a prescription, you can't do better than to take it to your nearby Bloor's Pharmacy. That prescription was written to correct a certain set of health circumstances that are individual to your youngster . . . and your Bloor pharmacist, too, handles it on a purely individual basis. He looks upon your child's health and safety as his own personal, individual responsibility, and follows a whole series of 'double-check' precautions with extra care.

See your doctor first . . . then Bloor's Pharmacy to give your youngster the best possible "Break"!

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Jay and I have been married two years. My best girl friend still is single. My husband always changes his shirt and slicks his hair back with goose grease when he knows Kathy is coming over.

Every time Jay drives Kathy home it takes longer and longer. A few weeks ago he had car trouble. Last week she invited him in for a nightcap and he forgot the time.

Last night Kathy started to brag about her 21-inch waist. Maybe I'm overly sensitive because I'm pregnant but I really got mad when she challenged Jay to encircle his hands around her waist to see if his thumbs and index finger would touch.

I decided to ride along when Jay drove her home. All the way back he talked about her remarkable 21-inch waist.

Do you think I have trouble? —DISS-TURBED.

Dear Diss: A baby is infinitely more remarkable than a 21-inch waist. If Jay ever brings up her measurements again let him know.

In the meantime, tell Kathy she is welcome to come over if she wants to bring a boy friend along — to even up the party. But no more of this gleesome threesome jazz.

Mooching Kin

Dear Ann: Last year my husband and I inherited a modest sum of money from an uncle. To listen to my mother and my aunt talk, you'd think it was a million dollars and that we are imbeciles.

Every month they have a project they feel we should donate the money to. We've had personal visits from representatives of three charitable organizations since February. (My mother and aunt sic them on us.) Two nephews have decided we should put them through college.

My husband and I are ready to tell them all off. How do we do it without alienating the whole tribe?—NETTLED.

Dear Net: Where there's a will there's a relative. Funny how nothing creates interest like inherited money.

The letters that appear in this column are evidence enough that otherwise bright people suddenly become stupid and timid when it come to protecting themselves against members of their own family.

Put an end to the problem by telling them to stop worrying about the money because you plan to dispose of it in your own way.

Blood Test Foes

Dear Ann: My girl and I want to be married soon. Will you please tell us what states do NOT require a blood test? We want to go to one of these states.

We believe it's unconstitutional for a state to stick its nose into the condition of people's blood. This is not the government's business. It is a personal matter. If we want to be married without a blood test we should be able to do so.

Thank you in advance for help.—INDEPENDENT THINKERS.

Dear I.P.'s: You thanked me too soon. I'm not going to give you any help.

Unfortunately there are still a few backward states which do not require a blood test before issuing a marriage license but you'll never get the names of these states from me.

Your resentment reflects ignorance. The state is not interested in your "personal business." The state is attempting to protect unborn children from veneral disease. It's shocking — the millions of people who never would have any type of physical checkup if it were not required by law.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Rep. Taft Raps Administration On Debt Ceiling

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Robert Taft Jr. has lashed out at the Johnson administration's "optimism" over the state of the American economy and called for a "realistic debt limit."

The Republican candidate for U. S. Senator told the Miami Valley Industrial show here Wednesday night that federal officials "should not be permitted to spend beyond our capacity to pay simply because they know the debt limit can be raised."

He said the recent debt limit increase "constituted the largest single increase ever in a peacetime year. It pushed the 'temporary' ceiling to an all-time high—$324 billion."

The congressman asserted that the national administration's "optimism" over the state of the American economy "is to try to justify its permanent policy of budgetary deficits."

Fitness Class Elects 2 In Officers' Posts

Lausche Praises Work Of Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, joining in a Senate tribute to city police officers, says the time has come for people to march to the defense of the police.

"In most communities the police have been patient, they have taken abuse, they have been subject to assault and battery in attempting to handle dangerous situations in a gentle way," Lausche said.

"I commend them for it," he continued, "but to that abuse there should not be added the insults and the charges that police misconduct is the cause of riots."

St. Louis Trails Leaders By Five

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Can the St. Louis Cardinals go for broke with Lou Brock?

That was the big question in the National League after Brock continued his heavy hitting for the Cardinals, slamming a homer and four singles as St. Louis whipped first-place Philadelphia 10-5 in 11 innings Wednesday night in the opener of a two-game series.

The victory was the 13th in 16 games for the second-place Cardinals — the Phillies have an 8-9 record over the same period — and kept them steamrolling toward the top while whittling Philadelphia's league lead to five games.

And Brock, the key man in a six-player trade completed with the Chicago Cubs just before the June 15 trading deadline, has supplied a big stick in an outfield depleted by Stan Musial's retirement.

Brock, a 25-year-old lefthander swinger, was hitting only .251 for the Cubs but has hit at a .351 clip for the Cardinals, scoring 64 runs, driving in 33 and stealing 30 bases in 79 games while moving into the top 10 among the hitters with an over-all .311 mark.

The Cardinals' victory left them one game up on Cincinnati and San Francisco, who remained six games off the pace. The Reds lost to Pittsburgh 4-1 and the Giants were whacked by the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-1.

Elsewhere, Milwaukee whipped the New York Mets 7-4 and the Cubs defeated Houston 6-3.

The Cardinals, who were 11 games behind the Phillies on Aug. 24, were two runs behind going into the ninth but tied it 5-5 on singles by Charley James and Brock, his steal of second, Bill White's grounder and a single by Ken Boyer. Boyer had hit a homer earlier.

Then, in the 11th, the Cardinals struck against ace Philadelphia reliever Jack Baldschun. Curt Flood and Brock singled and both rode home on a double by White. Richie Allen's error enabled White to score before run-producing singles by Julian Javier and pitcher Bob Humphreys wrapped up the rally.

Bob Veale brought his record to 16-10 for the Pirates, became the first Pittsburgh pitcher in history to reach the 200-strikeout level by fanning five, but needed one-out relief help from Al McBean before subduing the Reds.

The Pirates scored all their runs in the fourth against Joey Jay on a walk, singles by Roberto Clemente, Willie Stargell and Bill Mazeroski plus a double by Jim Pagliaroni.

Don Drysdale brought his record to 17-13 for the Dodgers, checking the Giants on five hits while receiving support from a three-homer salvo. Willie Davis cracked a grand slam, Frank Howard hit a three-run shot and Tommy Davis connected with the bases empty.

Joe Torre supplied the power for the Braves, driving in four runs with two doubles and a single while Tony Cloninger, now 16-12, pitched a four-hitter. Joe Christopher homered for the Mets.

Billy Williams hit his 32nd homer — his third in as many games — for the Cubs, who snapped a 3-3 tie against the Colts with a three-run seventh. Jim Stewart's two-run single broke the deadlock.

Orioles Split But Take 1-Game Edge

Yankees, Chisox Defeated

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Happiness is a healthy Boog Powell.

To the Baltimore Orioles, that is. To the other American League pennant contenders, a healthy Boog is unhappier than a Shakespearean tragedy.

Powell, the Orioles' slugging left fielder, exploded for a pair of two-run homers in Baltimore's 6-3 first-game victory over Washington and belted three singles in a 4-3 losing cause in the second game of the Wednesday twi-night doubleheader.

Despite the split, the Orioles increased their lead to one game over second-place Chicago and 1½ games over third-place New York. The White Sox lost to Minnesota 5-2 while Detroit dumped the Yankees 4-0.

Powell returned to action only last Saturday after missing 14 games with a fractured wrist suffered against Boston Aug. 20. During his absence, Baltimore managed only an even split in 14 games.

Powell failed to hit in his first three times at bat after his return but now has seven hits in his last 11 trips to the plate, raising his average to .291.

He slammed his 33rd homer following Buster Narum's walk to Norm Siebern in the first inning of Wednesday opener and came back with his 34th after another walk to Siebern in the sixth.

The 23-year-old Powell figured in all of the Orioles' scoring in the nightcap. He ignited a two-run rally in the fourth inning with a one-out single and stroked a clutch single in the sixth when the Orioles tied the game 3-3.

In the National League, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 10-5 in 11 innings, Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 4-1, Los Angeles walloped San Francisco 8-1, Milwaukee knocked off New York 7-4 and Chicago beat Houston 3-0.

A former Orioles, Willie Kirkland, prevented a doubleheader sweep of the Senators. Kirkland, whom Washington acquired from Baltimore last month, clouted a two-out homer in the ninth inning of the second game, breaking the 3-3 deadlock.

Chicago remained only .0004 ahead of the Yankees as the Twins battered 17-game winner Juan Pizarro in the second and third innings.

Minnesota tied the game 2-2 in the second as Jimmie Hall doubled in a run and scored on Earl Battey's single. Bob Allison snapped the stalemate with a two-run triple in the third, then scored as Hall fouled out.

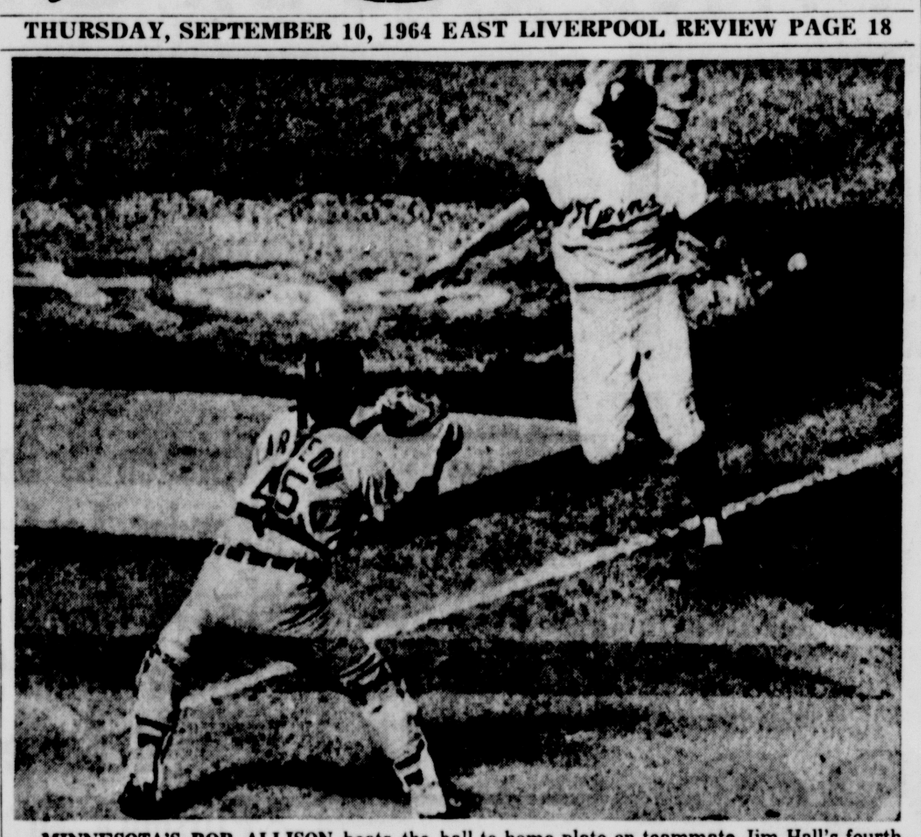

Mickey Lolich stopped New York on five hits, posted his seventh straight victory and third consecutive shutout and increased his record to 16-7. The Tigers scored all of their runs in the seventh inning, the last three on Don Wert's home run off Whitey Ford, 14-6.

Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer in tenth inning carried the Red Sox past the Indians. Woody Held countered with a bases-empty blast in Cleveland's 10th, but that wasn't enough.

Dick Radatz, the victim of Held's homer, tied a league mark with his 71st pitching appearance. Baltimore's Stu Miller set the record last season. The major league record is 74, held by Jim Konstanty of the 1950 Philadelphia Phillies.

White Sox Head Loses Fight

American League Owners Approve Sale Of Yankees

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — "I just hope I will never have to say 'damn it, I told you so.'"

Arthur Allyn of the Chicago White Sox, a very fierce and frustrated club owner, voiced this fervent wish today after having led and lost a vigorous battle to stop the Columbia Broadcasting System from entering the inner sanctum of major league baseball.

Finley reiterated his threat to sell his club to a Kansas City interest for $8 million and again charged that the Yankee-CBS transaction would result in a thorough investigation by the Justice Department of baseball's immunity from antitrust laws.

Dr. Stanton acknowledged that CBS was taking a "calculated risk" but added that before entering into a deal with the Yankees, the network had recruited outside legal counsel for an opinion on whether it would be in violation of the Antitrust Act.

Allyn, less vehement but equally as determined as his Kansas City counterpart, accused his American League colleagues of hasty and unwise action.

The young-looking White Sox head sought vainly to delay the vote, proposing that the league engage outside counsel, independent of baseball, distinguished in the field of antitrust law, to advise it from a wholly objective point of view, whether the ownership of the Yankees by CBS would or might result in prosecution of the league or CBS for violating the antitrust laws.

Allyn's proposal was rejected by a 7-3 vote, Baltimore joining the White Sox and Athletics in voting in the affirmative.

Allyn lost another round when his attempt to make a motion to inquire into the possibility of conflict of interest was ruled out of order and not even considered.

League President Joe Cronin, after reading the league resolution affirming the sale of the Yankees to CBS, said there was no fear of antitrust action and added baseball welcomed an inquiry by the Justice Department.

Stanton took the position, held by a majority of the American League owners, that if the Justice Department should undertake an investigation or action, it would be solely against the network and the Yankees. He added that the American League and baseball's position as exempt from the antitrust laws would not be affected.

Finley angrily charged that baseball has lost the faith of the fans because of the American League's decision to endorse the sale of the Yankees to CBS.

By the same 8 to 2 club owner count that had been acquired in a telegraph and telephone poll of a month ago, the American League, in a near day-long meeting Wednesday, officially approved the sale of 80 per cent of the New York Yankees for $11.2 million to the national television and radio network.

Dr. Frank Stanton, CBS president, expressed delight and gratification with the manner in which the club owners handled the controversial matter but Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics, angrily called the American League action "a railroad job."

"I requested of Dr. Stanton that CBS withdraw its offer to purchase the Yankees for the good of baseball," said Finley, first of the owners to exit from the stormy 7½ hour session behind locked doors. "The gentleman very graciously, however, stated he would not withdraw."

Thomas Injured, Phils Get Power

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "We'll get you shoes and a glove, just get yourself here."

This was General Manager John Quinn of the Philadelphia Phillies speaking Wednesday with a stunned Vic Power, Los Angeles Angels' first baseman.

Quinn telephoned Power, who was visiting friends in Minneapolis, and told him he had been purchased by the Phillies to replace the injured Frank Thomas.

Thomas suffered a broken thumb Tuesday in a slide at second base against the Los Angeles Dodgers. The veteran outfielder-first baseman, who had driven in 26 runs in 33 games since coming here from the New York Mets, probably will be sidelined the rest of the season.

Quinn upon learning of Thomas' injury took a quick look at the waiver list and put in a call for Fred Haney, Angels' general manager. He wanted Power, who the Phillies tried for last July before Minnesota traded him to Los Angeles.

Haney agreed to part with Power since Joe Adcock has been doing a fine job as the Angels' first baseman. He got what Quinn says was "in excess of $20,000 and a player to be named by Oct. 15.

Power was in Minneapolis because the Angels had a three-day break in the schedule. He told Quinn he "had no gear with him," which prompted the Phils' G.M. to make the shoes and glove offer.

Power arrived too late for Wednesday night's game, in which the Phils saw an early 4-1 lead go by the boards as the Cardinals took an 11-inning affair, 10-5.

The Cardinals took over sole possession of second place, moving to within five games of the Phillies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins released veteran halfback Billy Barnes and five other players Wednesday to reach the National Football League limit of 40 players.

Spahnnie Would Manage When He Quits Pitching

NEW YORK (AP)—Both the Milwaukee Braves and Warren Spahn, the winningest left-hander in baseball's history, have been giving deep thought to the future of the 43-year-old hurler, who is struggling through his worst season.

Spahn, whose list of records includes 356 victories, has won only six games this year while losing 12 and posting a fat 5.23 earned run average. He lost his place in the starting rotation weeks ago and recently has been assigned to mopping up — getting the game over with when the sixth-place Braves are far behind.

"I'm definitely going to pitch next year," said Spahn, who was paid $80,000 for the 1964 season. "If I don't figure in the Braves' plans, I'll pitch somewhere else. I know I can still pitch."

The Milwaukee southpaw was 23 and 7 in 1963, posting a 2.60 earned run average — the third lowest of his career and best in 10 years. Seventh on baseball's list of all-time winners, he completed 22 games last season to lead the majors for the ninth time.

Manager Bobby Bragan said Spahn has looked good in his last two relief appearances but said he would not be returned to the starting rotation.

John McHale, Braves' president and general manager, said, "I talked to Spahnnie a couple of weeks ago about his thoughts for next year. I told him we realize he wants to manage and that we would help him in every way we could in case a managerial job opened up on another major league club."

About running a club, Spahn said, "Sure, I want to manage some day, but not until I'm through pitching."

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Mickey Lolich, Detroit, pitched a five-hitter in the Tigers' 4-0 victory over the New York Yankees, posting his third straight shutout and seventh consecutive triumph to bring his record to 16-7.

BATTING — Lou Brock, St. Louis, collected five hits — four singles and his 10th homer — in six at bats and scored four runs as St. Louis whipped National League-leading Philadelphia 10-5 in 11 innings.

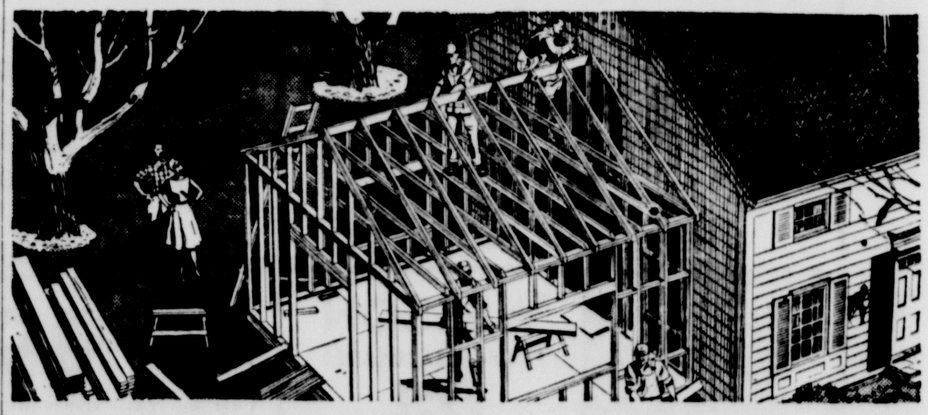

Signs With Warriors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nate Thurmond has signed with the San Francisco Warriors for his sophomore season in the National Basketball Association, the club announced Wednesday.

Bucher Starts Final Season With Lisbon

Bud Bucher starts his 19th and final season at Lisbon High School and when he retires at the end of this campaign he will go down as the winningest coach that ever tutored gridders in this area.

Bucher shows an outstanding record of 121 victories, 44 defeats and five ties.

He enters his final season with an inexperienced squad after coaching the Blue Devils to a 9-1 mark in 1963.

Two all-county backs Dave Rose and Gary Peruchetti were lost through graduation and leave big shoes to fill in the Lisbon backfield.

Five lettermen who were regulars last year are returning including Bucher's own boy Tim who will be at quarterback along with Roger Lowry, halfback, Jerry Toot, tackle, Paul McGaffick, end and Kim Manning, center.

Other gridders who won letters last year include Bob Watkins, center, Bob Alexander tackle and Jim Williams, halfback.

Lisbon opens its season at home Friday night facing an improved Carrollton squad. A game with Wellsville on Sept. 18 will preceed the opening Tri-County battle with Minerva on Sept. 25.

The Lisbon schedule follows:

Sept. 11 Carrollton, home
Sept. 18 Wellsville, away
Sept. 25 Minerva, home
Oct. 2 Poland, home
Oct. 9 East Palestine, away
Oct. 16 Sebring, away

The two squads will meet tonight at 7:30 for the championship of the double elimination event.

Barnes, Youngpeter, Carbaugh and Wyss had two hits each for the winners with Barnes smacking a two - run homer.

Susman Pulls Big Upset In Tennis Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Women's tennis in the United States is on the ascendancy again after a brief letdown — and in the forefront is a demure California mother, Karen Hantze Susman.

Mrs. Susman, 21, of San Diego, Calif., fashioned the biggest upset of the National Championships Wednesday when she knocked out Margaret Smith of Australia, the 1962 champion and No. 2 seed, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

She became one of five American survivors in the quarter-finals, the best American showing in the last few years.

Karen foot-faulted 20 times and served 16 double-faults in the first two sets but won when the Australian girl double-faulted at set point in the last two sets.

Karen's quarter-final opponent is Carole Caldwell Graebner of Santa Monica, Calif.

The winner plays the survivor of the match between third-seeded Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., and Nancy Richey of Dallas, assuring the United States of at least one finalist.

The United States' two big guns, Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley, survived to the men's quarter-finals but they have a hard road ahead against invading rivals, including Australians Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle and Tony Roche, plus defending champion Rafael Osuna of Mexico.

Ralston, seeded No. 2, from Bakersfield, Calif., won over 41-year-old Vic Seixas, the Davis Cup captain, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2. McKinley, seeded No. 4, from San Antonio, Tex., turned back Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y., 7-5, 6-4, 8-6.

Ralston faces Stolle in a Davis Cup preview while McKinley plays Roger Taylor of England. The other pairings send Osuna against England's Mike Sangster and Emerson against Roche.

Browns Will Field Team Which Relies On Passes

By LOU MIO

CLEVELAND (AP) — Shuffle the deck, insert a few wild cards and you will find the Cleveland Browns ready to deal themselves into the thick of the National Football League race with a lively passing attack.

Add a trump card and an ace-in-the-hole and coach Blanton Collier's gamblers appear ready to raise the ante from their second-place finish last season behind the New York Giants.

Collier doesn't wear a green eye shade, but he went all out to make the Browns a passing team in the exhibition season. Other NFL clubs can expect more of the same.

Last year the Browns threw the least number (322) of passes of any NFL club. In their 4-1 exhibition season record this year, however, Cleveland has attempted 131 passes, compared to a combined total of 190 attempts for their five opponents.

Quarterback Frank Ryan, who finished fourth among NFL flingers last season, is Collier's trump card. He played three full exhibition games and half of another, completing 49 of 90 passes for 882 yards and nine touchdowns.

The Browns scored 22 touchdowns in exhibitions — 17 on passes.

"I think we're going to throw more this year," Ryan said Wednesday night.

"The team looks real good and we have tremendous offensive and defensive talent."

Ryan's favorite target last season was Gary Collins, who tied Detroit's Terry Barr with 13 touchdown passes. Now Ryan has the extra wild cards—Paul Warfield, Clifton McNeil and Walter Roberts, all rookies.

The three have learned fast. "They're all good at learning the moves," Ryan said, "especially Warfield. He's doing things it would take a less accomplished end years to learn."

Fullback Jim Brown is Collier's ace-in-the-hole. In the past Brown has practically been a one-man infantry attack, with passing used as a diversion. With Ryan on the firing line and Collins and Warfield loose in the secondary, opponents can't concentrate fully on Brown.

The Browns' passing experiment will come out of the test tube into the operating room Sunday when they open the season at Washington.

'No Progress' Bared In Vindicator Strike

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A federal mediator has reported "no progress" for the third time since American Newspaper Guild Local 11 struck the Youngstown Vindicator 23 days ago.

Mediator Harding Roach of Akron made that report Wednesday after meeting with both sides. He said he will call another session in the future but did not say when.

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — William C. Geer, 88, a chemist who invented the airplane de-icer, died Wednesday. Geer held 40 patents on his de-icer, which allowed aircraft to fly at high altitudes by melting ice that formed on the wings.

Jack Nicklaus won the World Series two years straight but failed to qualify by winning one of the big four titles this year.

DID YOU KNOW?

GROVER CLEVELAND WAS PRESIDENT

When GARFIELD SCHOOL Was built in 1888

AND WHEN CENTRAL BUILDING WAS ERECTED IN 1894

A relic from the 19th Century, Central School stands over E. 4th St. like a medieval castle. Its replacement has been recommended since 1935. Central, the High School and outmoded elementary buildings no longer provide needed modern educational facilities.

THE UNITED STATES

has since become an international leader, fought in two World Wars, developed nuclear power, placed men into space and is pushing on to new social and technological frontiers.

The key to the achievements made in the 70 years since Central School was dedicated has been education, providing the nation's young people with the latest learning to keep pace and help in spurring progress in our way of life.

EAST LIVERPOOL

cannot properly educate its youth in decaying, unsafe, costly buildings far behind the times and behind the other educational facilities in surrounding communities.

Our students deserve modern classrooms, laboratories capable of providing instruction for 1964 careers, shops which train for today's skilled labor markets, all the facilities which are part of schooling in the Sixties.

Visit the high school and Central Building and compare our classes, labs, desks, chairs, lighting, heating, blackboards, fixtures and other equipment with the schools in the Tri-State District.

YOUR VOTE

for the proposed school bond issue in the Sept. 15 election can insure modern schools for our youth, a progressive step for your community, a meeting of your obligation in a democratic society.

OPEN HOUSE TONIGHT 7:30-9:30

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF . . MAKE YOUR OWN DECISION . . VOTE WITH A CLEAR CONSCIENCE!

fresh, sweet APPLE CIDER 49c half-gallon

Cider makes itself at home at mealtime . . . an eye-opener at breakfast, with your noon sandwich, as a light appetizer at dinner . . . and is at its best between meals, with cookies, doughnuts, cheese and crackers.

Freeze a few cartons of Cider to enjoy during the holidays.

For wives only: Bake an apple pie, a la mode it with Isaly's Dutch Apple Ice Cream, serve it to him with a smile . . then ask for that mink coat. You'll be warm all winter!

DUTCH APPLE Ice Cream 89c half gallon

Swiss Chocolate Pecan Ice Cream $1.00

Hearty Chocolate and crisply toasted Pecan halves . . so good it's outselling many of the old standbys. HAND-PACKED ICE CREAM, including Dutch Apple and Swiss Chocolate Pecan — 79c qt., 40c pt.

Junior Editors Quiz on GLASS

QUESTION: How is glass made?

ANSWER: Glass has always fascinated people because it seems wonderful to be able to look through such a hard substance, also because, since light can come through glass, it brings such a bright sparkling beauty to this material. For all this brilliance, glass is mostly made of plain drab-looking sand, to which certain other materials are melted together at great heat; they fuse into a syrupy liquid which is amorphous —that is, without definite internal structure.

This glass is then quickly cooled. It retains its transparent qualities. Colors in glass are the result of chemical impurities and are often deliberately added —as for example, a trace of colbalt oxide will produce an intense blue.

Many kinds of glass are made to produce many different objects. Liquid glass may be pressed in a mould, drawn out in sheets (window glass) or cast. An ancient method of working glass liquid was to blow it out on the end of a long pipe, and then, rolling the pipe on side arms, to shape the hot glass with various tools — this process still being used for making art glass. We illustrate it in the picture.

FOR YOU TO DO: We all know the familiar glass window panes, eyeglasses and drinking glasses, but would you think it possible to make flexible glass thread and cloth? It is. Look up "fiberglass" and find out about a remarkable new use for glass.
